BUT DANGER EBBS

Delia Speeding To Gulf Coast

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UPI) —Tropical Storm Delia, moving so fast it may never reach hurricane strength, turned a wide curve in the Gulf of Mexico Monday and headed toward a landfall on the Texas Gulf expected at daybreak today.

Thousands of persons who had fled inland in Louisiana, where the storm was first expected to hit as a full-fledged hurricane, slowly returned to their homes along the state's coastal islands.

In Texas, from the Galveston-Freepoint area on the south to Port Arthur on the north coast, Labor Day weekend crowds refused to let the storm hurry their holidays. Nevertheless, residents were battenning down and Coast Guard stations were moving into an alert basis.

"The surf was seven to eight feet; real high, good waves," said Jim Morrison, 20, of Houston, spending his Labor Day at Galveston. "That's a hurricane swell causing those waves."

"There were lots of surfers out there today, but I guess they're all going home today." The front deskman at the Flagship Inn at Galveston said no one was checking out because of the storm, though some people were leaving.

"Today's the day everybody was going to leave anyhow," he said.

Dr. Robert Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, announced the shift in direction for Delia at 6 p.m. EDT Monday, and said Delia's rapid movement 15 to 18 mph would not give it enough time to generate hurricane strength by landfall about 6 a.m. EDT today.

"We think it will be a marginal storm, nearly at the threshold of hurricane speed winds of at least 75 mph," Simpson said.

At 12:30 a.m. EDT today, the storm center was about 145 miles southeast of Galveston moving toward Galveston at 15-18 miles an hour. It was at latitude 27.6 north and longitude 93.5 west.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said the town of Sabine Pass on the northern coastal tip of Texas and the beaches of Brazosport south of Galveston were evacuated late Monday and early today.

"In a high tide all the escape routes from Sabine Pass are flooded," a spokesman said.

Tropical Storm Christine Loses Punching Power

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) —Tropical storm Christine lost steam Monday night as it churned northwestward toward an archipelago separating the Atlantic Ocean from the Caribbean. Forecasters said the storm would be reclassified to a tropical depression if it keeps weakening.

At 9 p.m. EDT, Christine was reported near latitude 17.0 north, longitude 62.5 west, 40 miles west of Antigua moving at 12 m.p.h. with maximum winds of 40 miles an hour. A hurricane watch for Antigua and the neighboring islands of Barbuda, Desirade and Guadeloupe was called off.

"Any further weakening during the evening will result in a tropical depression," the Na-

County Woman, 77, Danish Fire Victim

COPENHAGEN (UPI) —Police said Monday they had identified 20 American victims of Saturday's fire at the Hotel Hafnia. Another of the victims was from Canada.

Some of the bodies remain to be positively matched with identification, police said. The relatives of all have been notified. A total of 35 persons died in the fire. In Washington, the U.S. State Department was aiding with the identifications.

One of the victims was identified as Ellen Walt, 77, whom the State Department listed from "Laguna, Calif." There were no further details.

The list of Americans killed in the fire:

Carl H. Mallory, 48, and Harriet S. Mallory, 35, whom the U.S. State Department listed as being from Greensburg, Pa.

Christopher Brandt Little, 13, sons of Lewis Little, Nevada.

Albert Norman Siegel, 45, of South Orange, N.J. and wife

Judith Ellen Siegel, 42, and children

Majori Ann Siegel, 10, and Daniel Aaron Siegel, 8.

Natalie Kroyer, 51, Jacksonville, Fla.

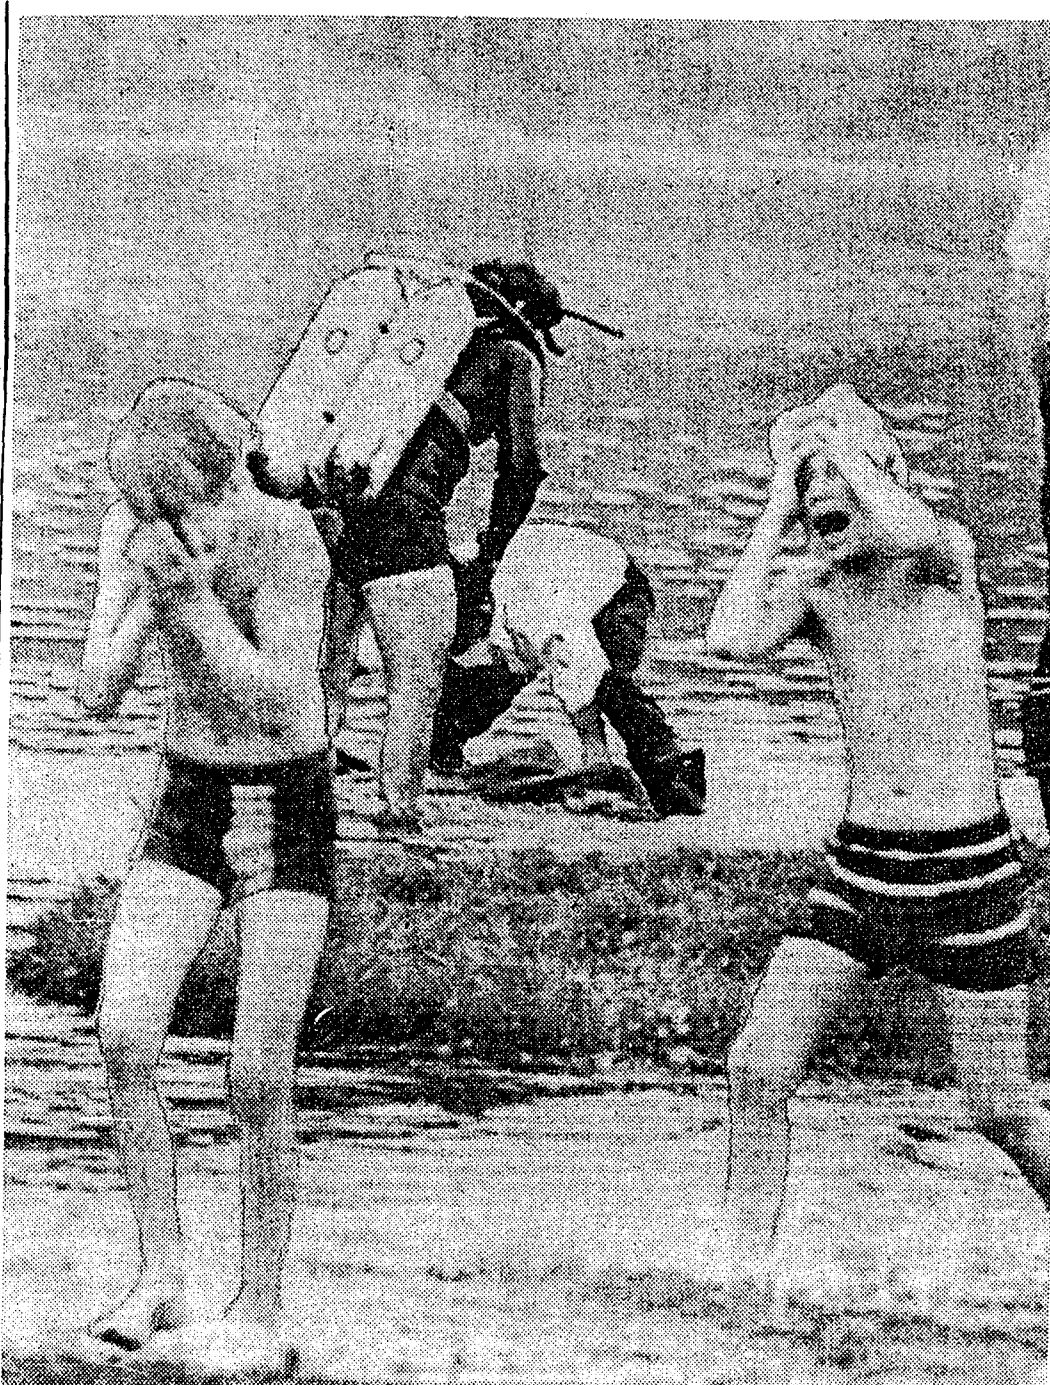

Louis Harry Rein, 61, and wife

Rosa Rein, 56, whom the State Department listed from Santa Monica, Calif.

John Kenneth Bergman, 43, and wife Frances Bergman,

Hostage Guards Released By Rioting Indiana Cons

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UPI) —Rebellious inmates at Indiana State prison Monday night freed three guards they had held hostage for two days, clearing the way for negotiations with Corrections authorities over improvements in prison conditions.

All three guards were unharmed and two of them, Arthur Jacques, a diabetic, and Donald W. Schultz, a widower with five children, stopped to tell newsmen they were in good shape.

A spokesman for Gov. Otis Bowen said the governor's staff had been in "prolonged and delicate informal discussion with inmates" and that the governor had made it clear there would be no reprisals if the guards were released unharmed and order was restored.

Inmate demands concerning ombudsmen to deal directly with inmates and the corrections department headquarters in Indianapolis, mess hall facilities, medical services and isolation procedures were under review with improvements being planned.

Schultz's five children, ranging in age from 15 to 9, came inside the administration's building to greet their father. The family had waited out the tense drama in their house, just across the street from the 24-acre correctional facility.

The rebellion, which prison authorities blamed on a gang fight over a bottle of home-brewed alcohol, started when a group of at least 200 convicts tried to seize a security post as they returned from the chapel Sunday.

The release followed a two-hour session inside the prison with inmates from Cellblock A negotiating for the two other cellblocks. Warden Russell Lash, Indiana Commissioner of Corrections Robert Heyne, and two assistants of the governor conducted the negotiations.

Sen. Rudolph Caly, a freshman state senator from Gary, Ind., and Rep. Robert J. DuComb Jr., R-South Bend, Ind., a ranking member of the Indiana House committee with jurisdiction over penal institutions, went into the prison after the release of the guards was negotiated.

DuComb said he understood two ombudsmen would go on salary as of today. The hirings had been authorized by the legislation last spring.

Authorities decided to wait out the rebellious inmates rather than attempting to move in and create an "Attica-type" situation.

There were reports of minor

Firemen Conquer Ravaging Blaze

22,000 Watershed Acres Razed

CLEARLAKE OAKS, Calif. (UPI) —Fire fighters Monday night succeeded in enclosing a blaze which ravaged more than 22,000 acres of valuable watershed which included a big portion of the Mendocino National Forest.

In announcing containment of the stubborn fire near the Clear Lake resort area, officials of the National Park Service said firemen finally sealed the blaze in the Chocolate Peak wilderness 10 miles north of here.

Fire fighters spent the day dousing troublesome "hot spots" on the peak near the Clear Lake resort area.

The blaze, biggest in this Northern California recreational area in years, burst out of control Saturday after starting in the Bartlett Springs area. Forest rangers said it appeared the fire was deliberately set.

Some 1,250 firemen were used to battle the flames and crews trained in close-range firefighting techniques were called to duty on the "hot spots." The perimeter of the fire was 25 miles. A total of 10,000 acres was in the rugged national forest.

The National Park Service said an emergency study rehabilitation team has been called in to study the watershed damage. A spokesman added that three million board feet of timber was charred by the flames.

The fire threatened Clearlake

Oaks and several other resorts Sunday, but by Monday morning it was stopped on all fronts approaching populated areas. Fire officials said they expected the big blaze to be surrounded by fire lines today. Hundreds of persons were evacuated Sunday from cabins and mobile homes, but only six structures were lost, none of them residences. Only minor injuries were reported among the fire fighters. Specially-trained crews from the California Conservation Corps attacked "hot spots" on the fire lines Monday, using shovels and other hand tools. A (Please Turn To A2, Col. 8)

Traffic Deaths Mount Steadily

By United Press International

The traffic death toll mounted steadily as the long Labor Day weekend drew to a close Monday.

Although officials urged motorists heading home to drive carefully and allow time for getting through traffic jams, traffic deaths appeared to be heading for the 550 to 650 total estimated by the National Safety Council.

The 78-hour period that extended from 6 p.m. Friday through Monday midnight was expected to claim its heaviest toll of life during the dense travel hours as the long weekend drew to a close.

A United Press International count at 11 p.m. Orange County time showed 490 persons had been killed in traffic accidents during the weekend holiday.

County Records Single Weekend Traffic Fatality

SANTA ANA—Orange County escaped the three-day holiday weekend with one traffic fatality, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Traffic throughout the county was lighter than expected for the Labor Day weekend, the CHP spokesman said. An increase was noted Monday evening, but traffic generally was moving smoothly, he said.

Leslie Franzen, 17, of 16701 Algonquin St., Huntington Beach, was killed when the car she was driving crashed head-

OC Beaches Not Crowded

NEWPORT BEACH —Overcast skies and cool weather led Southern residents to avoid beaches in record numbers over the Labor Day weekend, according to reports from coastal communities.

"It was one of the smallest Labor Day crowds we've ever had," said Lt. Logan Lockabey of the Newport Beach Marine Safety Department.

The total crowd estimate for all beaches in the city was

'SCANDALOUSLY EXPENSIVE'

B1 Bomber Costs Zoom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Production delays in the B1 bomber program will add an estimated $1.1 million to the cost for each of the superbombers, the Air Force reports.

The statement came in response to a charge by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., who said cost increases are making the B1 project "so scandalously expensive that the Air Force should consider either significantly redesigning the plane or getting rid of it altogether."

The Air Force said the on predicted inflation rates through 1975, and that the increase would put the B1 price tag at $56 million each or $264 million more than the total multi-billion costs for all 240 of the planes.

"With further problems likely to occur on the program the chances are good that the cost per plane will go way above the current estimate," Aspin said. The Air Force said a cost analysis of the B1 program would not be completed until late this year. It said the figures in its preliminary analysis were presented to Congress in secret testimony July 27.

Air Force Secretary John McLucas told Congress in a letter dated July 12 that installation of electronic systems on the first of three prototypes of the superbomber was behind schedule and production would be delayed from July, 1975 to May, 1976.

Blue Marlin Sets Record

appliance salesman landed a record 680-pound blue marlin for 50-pound tackle was a 661-pound fish.

The overall Blue Marlin record is held by Elliot Fishman of the U.S. Virgin Islands, who caught an 845-pound about two years ago on the Atlantic six miles north of El Morro fortress after a battle of more than 2 1/2 hours.

The blue marlin world record for 50-pound tackle was a 661-pound fish.

Libya Takeover To Double Cost For Crude Oil

BEIRUT (UPI) —Libyan Premier Abdel Salem Jalloud predicts that the price of Libyan crude oil will be almost doubled in the wake of Libya's takeover of controlling interests in all foreign companies operating on its territory. He added Libya would not accept payments in U.S. dollars.

In a news conference broadcast by Tripoli Radio, Jalloud said Libya wanted $6 a barrel for its oil —almost double the current price and more than double the $2.50 paid to Persian Gulf oil producers.

"Libya will no longer accept payment in U.S. dollars," he added. "The dollar has lost its value and we want a currency that is convertible to gold."

Jury Reported Ready To Hear Agnew Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office Monday described as "absolutely false" a published report his staff had been informed that a federal grand jury in Baltimore will hear evidence this week involving Agnew in an investigation of alleged kickbacks by Maryland contractors.

Newsweek magazine quoted Agnew aides as reporting the grand jury, which has been investigating corruption in Maryland government since January, would start hearing evidence involving Agnew some time this week.

This week's edition of Newsweek said several top Justice Department sources insisted that Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has not decided whether to send the case to the grand jury, but that "some office Monday described as 'absolutely false' a published report his staff had been informed that a federal grand jury in Baltimore will hear evidence this week involving Agnew in an investigation of alleged kickbacks by Maryland contractors."

On Agnew's orders, his press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson, issued a statement saying no member of the vice president's staff had made any such remarks, and that his staff had not been kept abreast of developments in U.S. Attorney George Beall's investigation.

Beall has said no information involving Agnew has been presented to the grand jury, and that the "Agnew phase" of the inquiry would begin some time after Labor Day. Thomson said Agnew had not yet met with Beall. Richardson has promised Agnew that such a meeting would be arranged before any evidence involving Agnew goes to the grand jury. Thomson said he knew of no recent contact between Richardson and Agnew.

Nixon and Agnew met for two hours Saturday at the White House before leaving on separate Labor Day vacations, Nixon at Camp David, Md., and Agnew at South Point on Maryland's Eastern Shore. Aides for both men said Agnew simply brought the President up to date on his legal situation.

Richardson has been vacationing for a week at Cape Cod, Mass. The Washington Post reported Sunday that Jerome Wolff and Lester Matz, both engineering consultants, have told prosecutors in return for limited immunity that they regularly gave money to Agnew, a former Maryland governor and Baltimore county executive, in return for choice state contracts.

Newsweek also quoted its sources as saying Nixon has been in touch with former Treasury Secretary John Connally, a recent Republican convert and a possible successor to Agnew if the vice president resigns.

(Continued From Page A1) damage to the cellblocks involved in the disturbance, but most of the demonstration consisted of chanting slogans such as "All power to the people" and the draping of a sheet with the words "Lash is lying" out the window of the most visible cellblock.

About 900 of the 1600 prisoners in the maximum security facility 60 miles east of Chicago were in the three cellblocks controlled by the rebels, but authorities said they did not know how many were directly involved in the disturbance.

Some 200 of those involved were suspected members of the "Lake County Gang" and the "St. Joseph's county gang."

Warden Lash said the 25 demands issued by the prisoners, including a call for his resignation, higher pay for work in prison industries, an end to "blatant racism" and a "kangaroo court system," were at least a year old and had little to do with the uprising.

He said the trouble started when a member of the "Lake County Gang" sold a bottle of homemade alcohol to a member of the "St. Joseph's County Gang" and was "paid" with a fake carton of cigarettes "stuffed with toilet paper."

Laguna Beach lifeguards estimated waterfront visitors at 30,000 Monday. "It hasn't been real good beach weather," said a spokesman.

The crowd estimate at Huntington Beach was 25,000. "That's less than half the usual Labor day number," said Douglas D'Arnall, marine safety captain.

"The weather really wasn't that bad," D'Arnall added. "It was cloudy all morning long — but that is the way it has been all summer."

Rescue activities at county beaches also were reported as

Flesh-Burning Chemical Not Aboard Stricken Ship

PHOENIX, La. (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard Monday said they had learned a chemical which could eat away human flesh when burned had never been loaded aboard a ship which burst into flame on the Mississippi River, ending most of the urgency which had surrounded the fire for two days.

The guardsman said the danger of an explosion from another chemical, calcium carbide, still existed, but was becoming more remote as the fire continued to burn itself out.

"We feel that at least the urgency of it has changed," said Bill Rice, a Coast Guard spokesman.

The Coast Guard said the substance actually on board was a compound of ethyl which was a "moderate fire hazard and is slightly dangerous when inhaled."

A spokesman said firefighters had subdued the flames enough by late Monday to board the ship.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Ferranto, who had been supervising the evacuation of 500 persons from their homes in Plaquemine Parish within a mile of the 306-foot gray and white freighter Key Largo, said the all-clear was given for residents to return to their homes.

"I feel great. I'm ready to go home and go to bed," said Ferranto, who, along with others, spent a sleepless night because the Coast Guard had said the Key Largo could either explode or give off noxious fumes that a Coast Guard spokesman had said could eat away human flesh.

The Coast Guard said the danger from the tetraethyl lead was that it would give off deadly fumes if fire got to it. The Coast Guard said that it could not apply water to fight the fire in the hold because the burning cargo was calcium carbide, which would explode if water touched it.

Instead, Coast Guard helicopters hovering over the burning ship dropped 10 tons of dry fire extinguisher powder, Purple K, onto the fire in small packets.

But the emergency evacuation, said the Coast Guard, when Harry Hennes of Ethyl Corp., notified authorities the 45 drums of tetraethyl lead that were supposed to be on the Key Largo were never loaded at the wharf.

"Apparently the captain thought he had it on board. So there's a bunch of stuff sitting on there and we don't know what it is," said Rice.

As for the threat of explosion from the No. 3 hold loaded with calcium carbide, Rice said, "There's not too much danger. It will continue to burn. It explodes, to a degree, but it's more like a blowtorch effect."

Mail Bomb Explodes In 3 Officers' Faces

LONDON (UPI) — A parcel bomb exploded in the faces of three policemen as they took it from a car outside a police station in the West Ham district of East London Monday night, injuring one seriously, Scotland Yard said.

It said the green mini-car was towed into the yard at the West Ham police station. "After a parcel had been removed from the rear seat, it exploded, seriously injuring a sergeant in the hands, arms and face," the statement said. "He has been taken to Queen Mary's hospital."

An inspector and a police constable were slightly injured and were treated at the police station, it said.

Earlier, police reported another bomb in a shopping bag was found in a downtown Birmingham street Sunday morning. It did not explode and was rendered harmless by Army explosives experts, police said.

Birmingham and its suburb, Solihull, are the only two British communities outside London to be hit in the wave of parcel, letter and other bombings which police blamed on the Irish Republican Army (IRA) in Ireland.

There have been 37 bombs in London in the campaign, now entering its third week, and others at British embassies in Washington and Paris. They caused no deaths but several injuries.

Birmingham assistant Chief Constable Maurice Buck said the bomb "seemed similar" to others found in London during the last two weeks, though "there are some things about it that are not."

TAKEN TO NEWPORT

4 Persons Stricken On Pleasure Cruiser

NEWPORT BEACH — Food poisoning was suspected Monday to have caused the illness of four persons plucked by a U.S. Coast Guard cutter from their fishing vessel and rushed by ambulance to Hoag Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Listed in satisfactory condition was Virginia Robbins, 36, of San Diego. Released Monday was Mary Windau, 45, of Phoenix. Both women had been taken in an unconscious condition to the hospital intensive care unit.

Treated and released earlier Monday at the Hoag emergency room were their husbands, John Robbins, 49, the boat operator, and Richard Windau, 47.

The Coast Guard Cutter "Point Evans" answered a distress call from the quarter's Christ Craft cruiser, "Baja Explorer," at 11:09 p.m. Sunday. The boat was located at the 14-mile bank, between Newport Island, and towed to shore.

Both women were unconscious and the men in a weakened condition, and an ambulance was requested to meet the cutter at the Newport Beach station. Seal's Ambulance Service transported the foursome to Hoag.

Dr. John Philp, county health officer, said it is "unknown at the moment" what caused the boat occupants to become ill.

"It could have been food poisoning or chemical poisoning or even carbon monoxide poisoning from the boat," he said.

"We have a number of specimens collected," he added. Other officials said that being examined were the unused portions of bottles of liquor and soft drink mix, and the ice that had been used for the mixed drinks which was kept in the boat's fish bait box. No other

Unions Denounce Nixon's Policies

By United Press International

Two powerful union leaders criticized President Nixon's economic policies Monday, blaming them for soaring inflation and runaway corporate profits. Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan, in a Labor Day address, defended the policies, saying employment and take-home pay were up.

AFL-CIO President George Meany claimed Nixon has mismanaged the country and caused havoc in every area of American life, except bank and corporate profits. He said the President would not be welcome at the union's annual convention.

I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers of America, said "America has slipped backwards" in the past five years with regressive social and economic policies, runaway inflation and soaring corporate profits and interest rates.

Meany said in a radio broadcast that when Nixon took office, unemployment was at a 15-year low, there was no shortage of food or consumer goods and "the dollar was strong and respected throughout the world."

"Well, workers have now been subjected to wage controls for more than two years. But wages, and wages alone, have been rigidly controlled. Workers, and workers alone, have been forced to sacrifice in the administration's so-called fight against inflation. In the past two years, there has been no equity, no even-handedness in the control program."

Since Nixon became President, Meany said, the inflation rate has almost doubled, "the greatest food-producing nation on earth is experiencing food shortages...America's housing shortage has grown to crisis proportions," and budget deficits have totaled $68.8 billion.

"So in labor's view the administration's economic policies have been and are dangerously unbalanced and thoroughly bad," he said. "Except in the areas of bank profits and corporate profits, they have caused havoc in every area of American life."

Brennan Cites Gains In Income, Employment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan today said the Nixon administration's economic policies have meant a lower unemployment rate, greater job opportunities and increased take-home pay for the American worker.

In a speech at commencement exercises for the first graduating class of the New York State Labor College, Brennan said these advances have come about under the administration of a president "willing to brave the criticism that usually accompanies an assertion of leadership in the field of economics."

Nixon's economic policies and Brennan's support of them were strongly criticized Monday by the heads of the nation's largest labor organizations.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said the president was not welcome at the union's annual convention this year. But Brennan said employment has risen three million in the past year, overall unemployment was at 4.7 per cent, the lowest in the last three years, and average real earnings for July were up to $146.65 per week.

In addition, Brennan said employment and job training opportunities have increased substantially for minorities, women and Vietnam-era veterans.

Weather conditions improved, with winds down to 10 miles an hour, and officials said the favorable conditions were being used to cut a secondary fire line which would back up the main line "in case everything should go to hell again."

The blaze is burning in heavy brush and snow cone pine timber about 10 miles east of this unincorporated resort area on Clear Lake, California's largest inland lake. It is about 100 miles north of San Francisco. The terrain is extremely rugged and hot.

DEATH PENALTY BIG ISSUE

State Legislature Back Today

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California legislature reconvenes today after a three-day Labor Day weekend recess with the goal of wrapping up its 1973 session in the next two weeks.

The biggest issue still unresolved is the restoration of the death penalty in California. The Assembly Thursday is expected to take action paving the way for capital punishment, despite the personal opposition of Speaker Bob Moretti.

After three months of maneuvering, the Criminal Justice Committee finally sent the bill (SB450) by Sen. George Dukmejian, R-Long Beach, to the Assembly floor last month. But first, it stripped the measure of the death penalty, substituting life imprisonment without parole.

Now Assembly Republicans plan to ask the full Assembly Thursday to return the measure to its original form, with a few exceptions. Moretti has acknowledged death penalty advocates probably will succeed and Gov. Ronald Reagan will sign the measure this year.

Deukmejian said the new version of his bill will not cover four crimes mentioned in his original measure: hi-jacking, the killing of an inmate by a fellow prisoner, torture slaying and arson-caused death.

The legislature must pass and elderly, blind and disabled welfare recipients in California will have their aid slashed in half.

Assembly Democrats and the Reagan administration are blaming each other for failure to compromise on the issue with both sides not budging an inch.

If no action is taken, adult aid will be reduced Jan. 1 to $130 for single recipients and $195 for married couples — about half of what they now receive.

Under the new two-year legislature, bills which are not passed this year may be considered again in 1974 without starting all over again with bill introductions necessary in the old one-year sessions.

The administration contends an Assembly-passed bill by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, would bankrupt the state by increasing welfare grants too much. On the other hand, Burton says the administration's proposal would not meet the needs of the poor.

Italian Cholera Spreads North; Deaths Hit 13

ROME (UPI) — Italy's cholera outbreak spread north from Naples and Bari Monday, with one case reported in Rome and another in a town a few miles from the Castel Gandolfo summer residence of Pope Paul VI and a worldwide meeting of papal diplomats.

Health authorities said 88-year-old pensioner Mauro Garofoli, who died Sunday on his way from the village of San Polo dei Cavalieri to a Rome hospital, was a cholera victim. He was Italy's 13th to die since the outbreak began in the Naples area one week ago.

The officials attributed Garofoli's death to cholera-infested raw mussels his son-in-law brought from the Bari area. They said it was an isolated case, but ordered the immediate disinfection of San Polo and the nearby towns of Tivoli and Marcellina.

Tivoli is 16 miles north of Castel Gandolfo where Pope Paul is spending the last few weeks of his summer vacation. It is 10 miles from Frascati, where papal nuncios (ambassadors) from all over the world have gathered for an exchange of views about the problems of Vatican diplomacy. The informal meeting, the first of its kind, starts officially Wednesday but many of the 33 diplomats have already arrived.

In Rome, doctors said one of 54 persons examined at Lazzaro Spallanzani hospital turned out to be suffering from cholera. They identified him as Vincenzo Piccioni, a 45-year-old worker who lives in a shanty a short distance from the villas of movie stars on Rome's Ancient Appian Way.

Lunatic Fires Bomb Inside Lenin Tomb

MOSCOW (UPI) —An "insane" Soviet man killed himself and two bystanders by exploding a homemade bomb inside the Lenin Mausoleum on Red Square, a Soviet source said Monday.

The source said he did not know the motive of the attack or the identity of the man with the bomb. But he described the man as insane.

There was no damage to the red granite mausoleum next to the Kremlin wall which houses the embalmed body of V.I. Lenin, the founder of the Soviet state who died in 1924.

Thousands of Russians and foreign visitors stream into the mausoleum daily to view Lenin's remains, which are on display in a glass-covered coffin.

The attack Saturday was the first known violent incident to take place around the Kremlin since a gunman fired on a motorcade of Soviet leaders and cosmonauts at the Kremlin's Boritsky Gate in 1969.

Composers Rap Russ Physicist For Statements

MOSCOW (UPI) —Twelve Soviet composers, including Aram Khachaturian and Dmitry Shostakovich, united Monday in condemning nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov, Pravda said.

Related Story, Page A9
The Communist Party newspaper published a letter signed by the composers which denounced Sakharov for statements he made to Western newsmen two weeks ago.

Sakharov, who helped develop the Soviet hydrogen bomb and leader of a civil rights movement, was warned by Soviet officials recently to stop seeing foreigners. He responded by calling in newsmen and warning against Western cooperation with the Soviet Union in the absence of democratization here.

"We are shocked by Andrei Sakharov's actions which are incompatible with the lofty name of a Soviet citizen and a Soviet scientist," said the letter in Pravda. "His publications in the Western press are a slur upon the honor and dignity of the Soviet intelligentsia."

Soviet newspapers have been running letters for the past week condemning Sakharov.

Thieves Steal 2-Room House

GANZIRRI, Sicily (UPI)—The thieves who descended on Prof. Francesco Cosentino's house took not only the kitchen sink but the house itself.

Arriving in two cars while Cosentino was away, they methodically disassembled the two-room prefabricated house and its contents, telling a surveyor who stopped to chat that Cosentino had sold the house and hired them to deliver it to the new owner.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon Monday raised over $12 million in pledges to benefit research into Muscular Dystrophy, breaking all previous fund-raising efforts for the program.

Of that amount, $1,351,271 was raised in the New York metropolitan area during more than 20 hours of television campaigning.

The program began at 9 p.m. Sunday and was broadcast on 153 stations over the Hughes Television Network.

Lewis has been national chairman of Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America for the past 22 years. Since 1966, the telethon has raised about $28 million and Lewis continues to organize the program and other fund raising activities personally.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association runs 122 free clinics, 20 of which have been opened since the last Labor Day telethon.

NYC's Opera Darkened By Musicians Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—A musicians' strike against the New York City Opera entered its third day Monday with no settlement in sight.

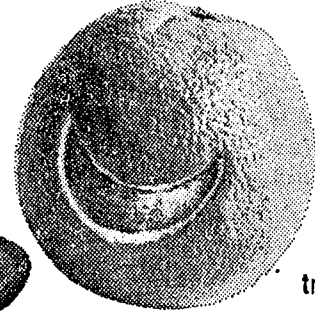

Since the strike began Saturday, the lights have been out at the New York State Theater in Lincoln Center, disappointing many tourists who had scheduled an opera performance for their holiday weekend.

The opera's general counsel, Martin Oppenheimer, said Sunday there has been no contact between union and management negotiators since talks broke down Friday.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Modern concert halls usually need electronic apparatus to make a program audible. An open-air theater, built about 330 B.C., in Epidaurus, Greece, is still used for dramatic presentations because of its splendid acoustics. The World Almanac notes that conversation by persons on the stage can be plainly heard from the highest row of seats, 193 feet from the stage and 193 feet above it.

Narcotics Link Seen In Bruce Lee Death

A Hong Kong coroner said Monday Chinese-American movie star Bruce Lee suffered from a swelling of the brain and possible cannabis poisoning when he died one and a half months ago. Coroner C. K. E. Tung told a packed Hong Kong coroner's court, convened to determine the cause of Lee's mysterious death, that according to a doctor's report there were traces of cannabis in the 32-year-old actor's stomach and small intestines when he died. Cannabis is a plant widely known in different forms as hashish or marijuana.

Actor Don DeFore, best known for his portrayal of the head of the television household that employed Hazel as its maid, was in good condition Monday in the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital, Denver, where he was sent because of undetermined back injuries. He was scheduled to open a dinner theater engagement Wednesday in Neil Simon's comedy trilogy "Plaza Suite."

Greek authorities Monday barred Mrs. Heraklia Pappas, wife of Cmdr. Nickolaos Pappas, from leaving Greece. Pappas was the captain of the destroyer Velos which sailed to Italy after the abortive navy coup last May. Mrs. Pappas told UPI by telephone that she went through passport control at Athens airport and was ready to board Alitalia flight 481 for Rome, when police called her to report to the airport information office. "They asked me what I had done to be barred from leaving and I told them I was the wife of Cmdr. Pappas," she said.

Cardinal Rufino J. Santos, 65, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Manila and the Philippines' first cardinal, died Monday in Manila of a heart attack. Santos was admitted to San Juan de Dios hospital two months ago to undergo a cranial operation and has been reported in serious condition for the past several weeks. Santos was named the first Philippine prince of the Catholic church on March 21, 1960 by Pope John XXIII.

Ailing King Gustaf Adolf VI remained in serious condition Monday in Stockholm and his doctors said the 90-year-old monarch may have suffered an infection. Dr. Albert Bromée, the deputy chief physician at Helsingborg Hospital, said in a medical bulletin Sunday night that the king's condition "is largely unchanged and still serious." It said there had been no new hemorrhaging in the king's stomach, about half of which was removed 12 days ago because of a gastric ulcer.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., was reported in satisfactory condition at Baptist Medical Center in Little Rock, Monday recuperating from back surgery last Friday. "He is resting comfortably and he had a good night," a hospital spokesman said. Mills underwent surgery to correct a ruptured disc in the lower spinal column. He is expected to remain hospitalized for a week to 10 days.

Clarinetist Albert Nicholas, one of the alltime greats of New Orleans jazz, died in Basel, Switzerland, today following an operation. He was 73. The County Hospital said Nicholas died early this morning. It gave no further details. Nicholas came to Europe in 1953, living mainly in Paris.

Prince Philip held "exceptionally warm" talks with President Nikolai V. Podgorny in the Kremlin Monday, then over vodka and caviar, discussed improving Anglo-Soviet relations and a possible future visit by Queen Elizabeth II, a British source said. The talks were "highly unpolitical, but exceptionally warm," the source said, noting Podgorny interrupted a Crimea vacation to return to Moscow to meet the husband of the British queen. The source emphasized there was no concrete proposal by either side for Elizabeth to visit the Soviet Union, but said the Soviets clearly hoped for more royal visits.

witnesses into the statewide hearings to plead for changes in the system. Among them was the mother of family-slayer Charles Soper, who gave a tearful appeal before television cameras that "rights" are too heavily weighted in favor of patients.

The committee, through the Senate or Assembly Rules Committee, has singular power to summon patient files and allow a comparison with prison and other criminal records.

A committee staff worker said such a subpoena was a "possibility." He too described violence by the mentally ill as a "problem."

The state Health Department, which administers state hospitals and has been glowing in praise for the overall system, has initiated its own computerized cross-check between patient and criminal records.

turns to her Buena Park home and does housework. She cooks and sews, and takes care of her family, which also includes three dogs, a cat, two rabbits and seven mice.

"We're redoing the house now," she said, and current tasks range from painting and wallpapering to reupholstering furniture.

"When I have time," said Freddy, "I like to go bike riding, or camping, or to the beach. I like to swim."

Future plans include going back to school, perhaps to study accounting or business management. "I have to keep working, so I might as well try for the top," she said. "I don't like being on the bottom."

Freddy Kidder said she does not consider her physical impairment a handicap. "That's the way I was raised. When I was very, very little I used to say 'I can't, but my mother said I can — that I can do anything I please to do. And I can.'"

Her statement was matter-of-fact, but sincere. You know she can do — and will — do what she sets out to accomplish.

Mental Institutions Attacked Claims Potential Killers Freed

The whole nub of it, he said, is predicting human behavior—how to sort out potential criminals from institution populations.

In response to Funderburg's figures, Stubblebine said, "we must consider whether the danger from released patients is greater than from nonidentified mental patients."

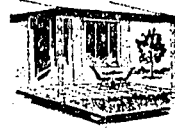

"There is a helluva problem with crime in the streets," he continued. "We know for certain that we are in more danger from our families and close associates than we are from those we don't know."

THE MILLION MILE REACH

If you're a typical advertiser with a typical interest in how to reach the typical American, you should know... On a typical weekday, here's what this many adult Americans (18 and over) will do during the day:

Those newspaper readers, on an average day, will open 84% of the pages of their newspapers—ENOUGH PAGES END-TO-END TO STRETCH ONE MILLION MILES!

More importantly, 81% of the ads in those newspapers can be expected to be seen by any given typical reader on an average day.

(Source: Audit and Surveys, Inc., for Newspaper Advertising Bureau)

You can't be in the coffee cup, or the lunch bucket or under the car seat... but you can be in the newspaper. Put your ad where Americans are... in the newspaper... every day.

Aid Sought For Soviet Physicist

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet physicist has called upon world public opinion Saturday to come to the defense of fellow physicist Andrei D. Sakharov, object of a Soviet campaign because of his outspoken views. "I believe it is necessary to protest against the campaign," said the physicist, V. F. Turchin, in a statement made available to Western newsmen. "I call upon all supporters of progress and democracy, all supporters of peace in the world, to raise their voices in defense of academician Sakharov."

Turchin's statement came as the government newspaper Izvestia continued to print letters from Soviet citizens denouncing Sakharov. Sakharov, who helped develop the Soviet hydrogen bomb and was a co-founder of a human rights group, was warned recently by secret police to stop seeing foreigners. His defiant response was to call Western correspondents to his home and warn against Western accommodation with the Soviet Union in absence of democratization here.

"The activities of Sakharov have always been directed toward defending the rights of man and toward democratization of the social life of our country, within the limits of legality," Turchin said. "He has always spoken out for genuine reduction of international tensions, necessarily including the strengthening of democratic freedoms in all countries."

"It is possible to agree with some of his individual statements, and it is possible to disagree with some of them, but it is not possible to deny that they are all dictated by his desires for the good of his people, or that they indicate great courage as a citizen."

Turchin added, "The hysterical campaign against Sakharov is conducted under the slogans of the struggle for the reduction of international tensions. In

Pact Ratified Ending Strike At Newspapers

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (UPI) — Unanimous ratification of a contract by members of the Mountaineer Newspaper Guild has ended a five week strike against the West Virginia Publishing Co.

It was the first such contract with a newspaper in the Mountain State. Striking employees of the firm's two daily newspapers, The Morgantown Post and The Dominion-News, were expected to be back on the job today.

The contract called for a minimum weekly salary of $168.50 after four years' experience for reporters, photographers, district managers and advertising salesmen. The minimum starting salary for the same job classifications with no experience was set at $112.

A Guild spokesman said the pact also included 22 days of sick leave by the end of the first year of the contract, an employee integrity clause, and a privilege against disclosure clause.

"We feel ... it's an excellent contract," a Guild spokesman said.

About 75 employees of the publishing firm began the strike July 25.

U.S. Officials Fear Foreign Terrorist Plots

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An Israeli military aide is murdered in darkness outside his suburban Maryland home.

An effort is made to blow up some Israeli banks in New York.

A letter bomb explodes inside the British embassy here.

A car filled with explosives is found parked along the New York highway used for a motorcade carrying Israel's prime minister.

Such incidents still are relatively infrequent, possibly because of various steps taken to beef up security in the diplomatic community. But American officials fear extremists overseas may be trying increasingly to advance their causes by exporting terrorism.

Among those most concerned is Lewis Hoffacker, who heads up a State Department working group established to coordinate all available government resources that might prevent terrorism. His feeling is that more of it is in the offing.

"Is foreign terrorism coming to the United States? The threat seems to be in that direction," Hoffacker, 49, a former ambassador to Algeria and other African nations, said in an interview.

"This is a global problem and we have to defend ourselves. The problem is not just in the context of the Arab-Israeli dispute."

U.S. officials first began bracing for foreign terrorist activities here late last summer, when the massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympic games by members of the Palestinian Black September organization led President Nixon to create a special Cabinet Committee on Combating Terrorism.

So far, officials say they have had only limited success because it is hard to gather sufficient information without imposing rigid restrictions on the activities of foreign visitors. One summed up the situation this way:

"I'm afraid I'd have to say that America would be a pretty easy country to commit terrorism in if you wanted to. Once you get in over the border, you can travel around easily and you don't have to register with the police every time you stop in a hotel, as you do in some countries."

Hoffacker's view that the terrorist problem is not confined to Arab-Israeli tensions was borne out last Monday with the explosion of a letter bomb in the British embassy. Although diplomatic officials refused to say so publicly, they generally regarded the violence as an outgrowth of the civil strife in Northern Ireland and the work of Irish Republican Army members or some sympathizers.

Until then, most anti-terrorist planning was concentrated on the Middle East situation.

State Department officials are inclined to the view that no permanent Arab terrorist apparatus now exists in the United States. Rather, they suspect plans are formulated abroad, particularly in Beirut, the Lebanese capital which harbors leaders of the Palestine Liberation Organization and numerous other radical groups.

At some point, the officials theorize, Arab terrorists recruit some of the 3,000 or so Arab students attending U.S. schools to reconnoiter the terrain for a possible attack and perhaps even to execute it.

Whatever the methods, Jewish leaders are alarmed by the events of the past few months and some believe other terrorist acts are planned. For example, Arnold Foster, general counsel to the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, says he has reasons to think Arabs have created "terrorist cells" in the United States and have marked six prominent Jews as targets.

American authorities have found little to support that belief, they say, and have yet to arrest or prosecute any suspect under the new law which makes it a federal crime to attack a foreign official.

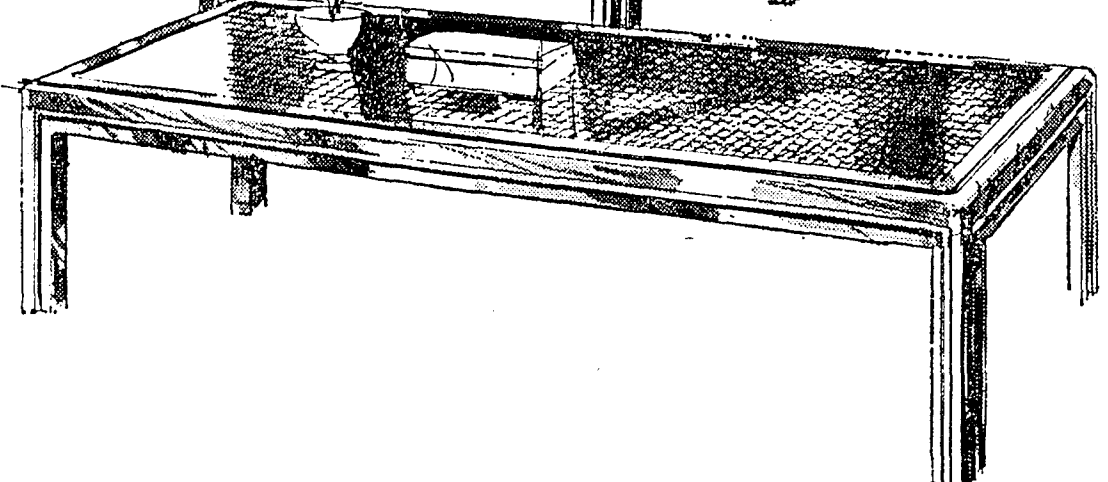

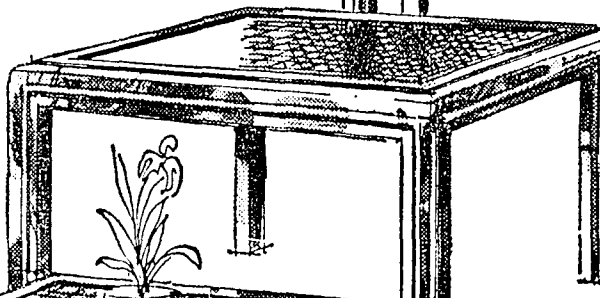

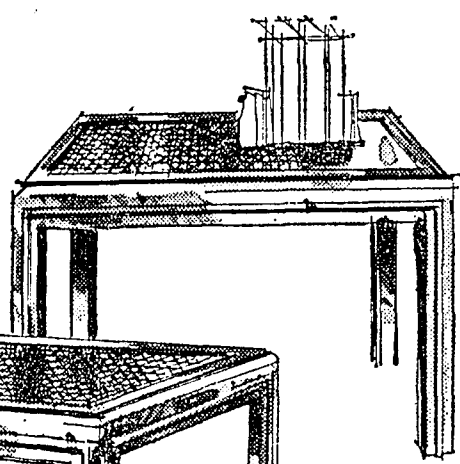

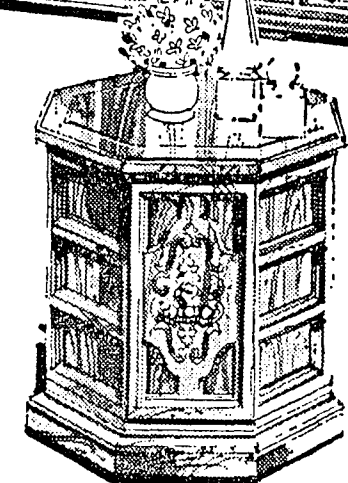

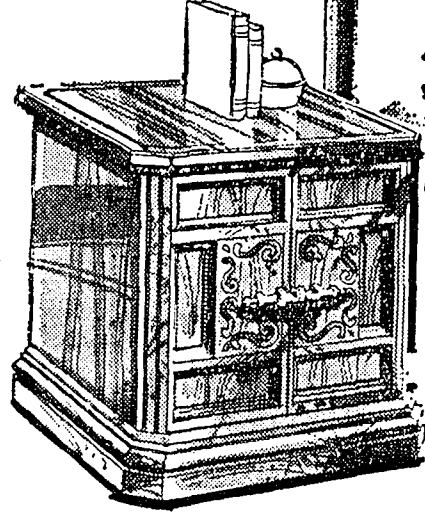

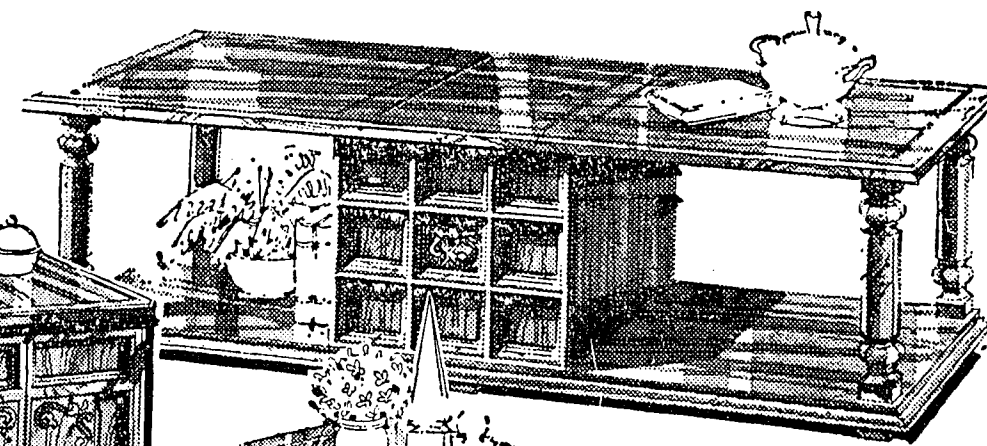

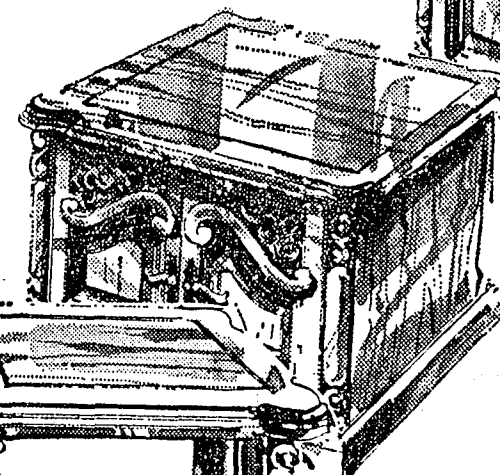

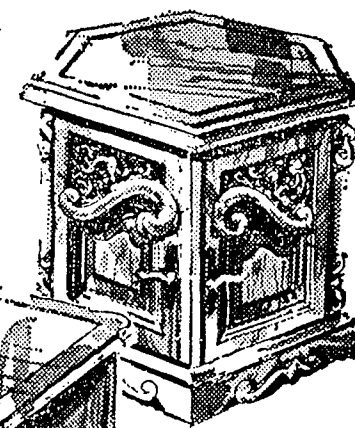

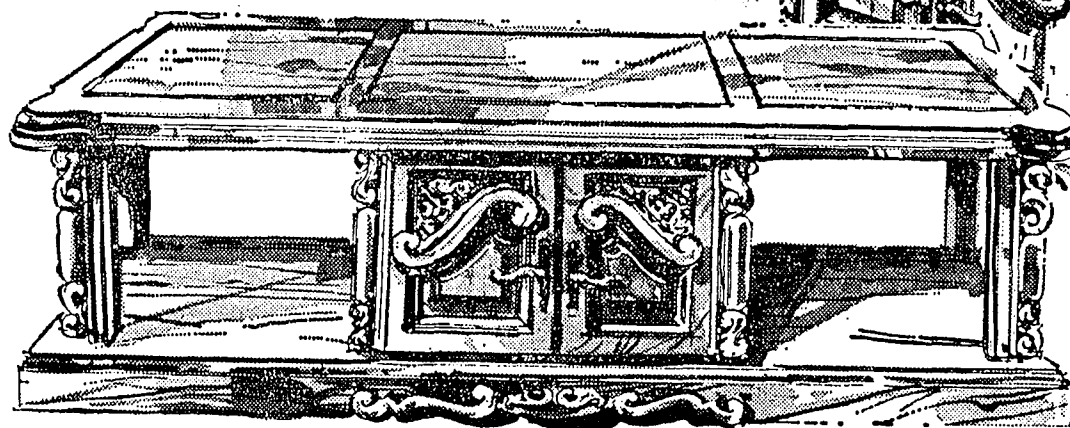

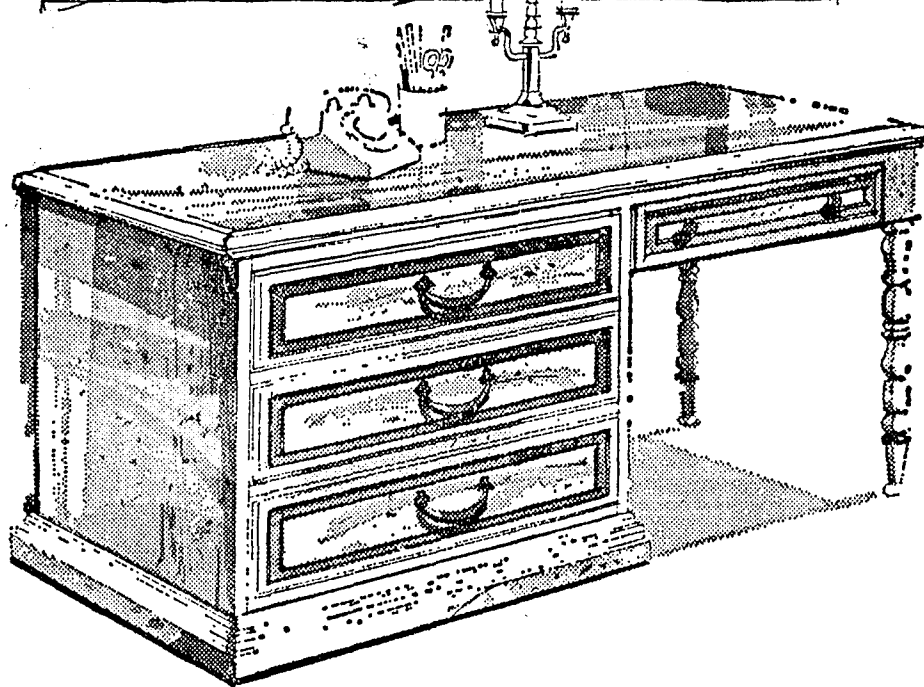

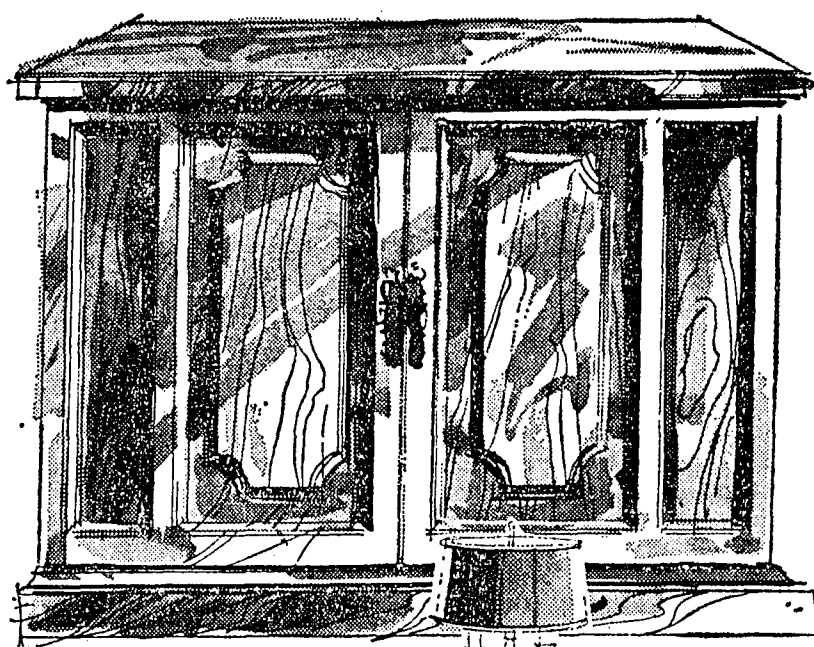

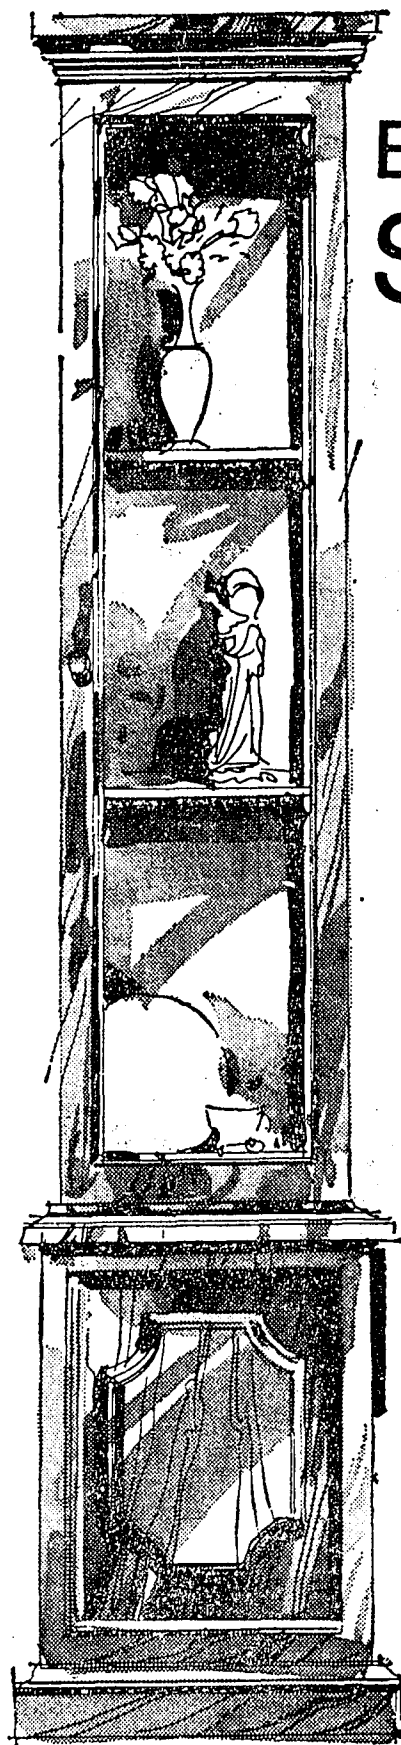

Investigators still are trying to find out who shot Col. Yosef Allon to death July 1 as he got out of his car shortly after midnight in front of his suburban Maryland home. Allon was gunned down only a few weeks before he was scheduled to leave his post as deputy military attaché in the Israeli embassy.

Officials agree that Allon's

murder was carried out in the manner used by a professional killer, but the assassination remains largely a mystery.

Authorities had more luck in effort to blow up several Israeli banks in New York and the El Al air terminal there. They also thwarted an apparent plan to harm Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir during her visit to New York in March, discovering an automobile filled with explosives on the road she travelled between Manhattan and John F. Kennedy International Airport.

To cope with the threat of terrorism, the U.S. government has taken a series of measures that include a crackdown on skyjacking and beefing up security at foreign diplomatic posts in the country.

Moreover, the State Department on July 1, 1972, suspended indefinitely provisions for travelers to transit through American cities for up to 10 days without a visa.

And in the last year, authorities gave special scrutiny to 37,000 visa applications while telling U.S. officials overseas to keep lists of possible terrorists.

As a result, some false passports and phony identities have been detected.

For their part, foreign diplomats are doing what they can to protect themselves.

At the Israeli embassy, for instance, all letters are examined carefully before they are delivered to reduce the threat of letter bombs and all visitors to the building must fully identify themselves before they are admitted.

Typical Idle Butcher Faces Bills, Waiting

DALLAS (UPI) —Russell Starrett, 29, has a wife, three sons, two cars, a pickup truck and child support payments for an 11-year-old daughter.

His wife works as an accountant and together they bring home about $700 each month. Each month they spend about that much and for the past month Starrett, a butcher, has been out of work.

When there is no beef to cut, the stores don't need butchers to cut it.

"Izzy (his union agent) says they'll probably call us next week but I haven't heard anything," he said. "Another week of this is about it and I'm gonna have to get another job fulltime."

But Russell would like to wait until the end of price ceilings of beef Sept. 12. He has built up three years' seniority at the Safeway a mile from his home and most other butcher jobs are not unionized.

He said the layoff Aug. 3 caught him by surprise.

"I'm just like a lot of people. I live from week to week. Now the phone company says if I don't come up with $22 today they are gonna cut off my phone tomorrow. We have gotten credit for the rent but these other people, gas, water, lights, car payments, they don't care. They'll cut you off."

Russell said he canned vegetables his family in East Texas gave them and they don't buy meat anymore. The last evening meal included fried potatoes, green beans, canned corn and cataloupe.

Isidor "Izzy" Weinberger, business agent for Amalgamated Meat Cutters Local 540 said Saturday 250 butchers and wrappers were laid off the first week in August. Half of them are back in the Safeway Stores warehouses and another 125 retail butchers are expected to be called back by the first of the week.

The reason —there is finally some beef for them to butcher.

"The warehouse was empty when they laid them off," he said. "I confirmed it. There was no beef. The prefab butcher line they have out there usually has 100 people on it and it dropped down to two."

"I don't know where they are getting the beef from, really I don't. But I know I have had some hungry butchers and a lot of places haven't had openings."

Not all grocery chains laid off their butchers. Many went to custom slaughtering or handling a lower grade of beef. Safeway refused to lower its grade and could not buy that grade at reasonable prices.

SPECIAL PROSECUTOR CLAIMS

Nixon Tape Suits Will Delay Watergate Jury

By WESLEY G. PIPPERT would not stop the Senate WASHINGTON (UPI) —The committee from issuing an al suits to obtain President interim report, investigators Nixon's secret tape recordings indicated.

Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox told Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica this week that he does not want the before the judge decides whether to order them given to the grand jury. Nixon decided to appeal the ruling by Sirica, who gave the President until this Thursday to do so.

James Doyle, a spokesman for Cox, said the prosecutor would seek to shorten the number of days permitted for both sides to file briefs and prepare for oral arguments. Doyle said this would permit the U.S. Court of Appeals to hand down a decision in September.

It is not known whether the usual three-judge panel or whether the entire nine-judge court will hear the appeal. Either side can ask that the entire court hear it. No matter how the appeals court rules, the losing side is sure to appeal to the Supreme Court.

Cox said there was an "urgency" in obtaining the tapes because the grand jury is due to expire Dec. 5. Doyle said the grand jury would need the tapes by mid-November to consider them properly.

Responding to the committee's suit, the White House refused last week to yield the tapes on grounds that it would violate constitutional provisions for separation of powers and interfere with the President's confidentiality with his advisers.

On the same day, the committee filed a motion for a summary judgment —an attempt to speed up the proceedings by asking Sirica to rule on the basis of evidence already submitted.

The White House may oppose that move. It told Sirica in a letter that the time-frame proposed by the committee to accelerate the court action "was unrealistically short."

Charles A. Wright, the Texas lawyer retained by the White House to work on the case, told reporters several days ago that he believed the 1971 Pentagon Papers case —which the government lost —was handled too quickly and unwisely.

RIVERSIDE THREATS TO BAR ANAHEIM HILLS PLAN ADDLE DEVELOPER

By MARJORIE FREEMAN
Register Staff Writer

ANAHEIM—Threats of court action by Riverside County officials to block or reduce the size of the posh Anaheim Hills development in Santa Ana Canyon are posing a puzzle to corporation executives.

A Riverside newspaper reported last week that support has developed for a suit against the project on the grounds it could worsen the already serious western Riverside County smog picture.

"Why us?" asked Anaheim Hills vice president Dick Doyle. "There are nine tracts under way in the canyon right now that are not a part of Anaheim Hills and almost 2,000 homes in the course of construction in those tracts. We have 999 homes under way, of which 175 already are built."

The newspaper claimed support for court action was determined from interviews with Rep. George Brown, D-Colton; Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif.; and Riverside Councilwoman Rosanna Scott.

Mrs. Scott said she is seeking backing for a suit from public and private groups in Riverside and San Bernardino counties. She said San Bernardino Mayor Robert Holcomb has pledged support for a law suit.

Opponents claim efforts to stop the project could be based, in part, on a recently adopted Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) rule requiring revision or abandonment of developments which might generate substantial air pollution.

Some of the opposition to the project possibly can be attributed to the fact that the smog-plagued city and county of Riverside are members of the powerful Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) and Anaheim, in whose boundaries or sphere of influence most of the Anaheim Hills project is located, is not.

Doyle said that in the course of attempting to obtain FHA financing for builders on the 4,200-acre Nohl Ranch, the FHA prepared an environmental impact report (EIR), which, under the law, it is required to send for comment to many agencies including the Department of Commerce, EPA, Southern California Edison Co., and SCAG.

SCAG, he said, has "denounced" Anaheim Hills on the basis of its ultimate population and air pollution.

SCAG predicts a population of 8,000 in 10 years in its regional statistical area 41, parts of Orange and the Santa Ana Canyon, disregarding Anaheim Hills plans that there would be 30,000 persons ultimately living in that project alone, Doyle said. SCAG has declined to take a second look at, or revise its figures, he said.

Riverside city and county contend that excessive air pollution will be generated by Anaheim Hills, he continued, and they want the FHA to halt the project—but make no mention of halting Santa Ana Canyon development outside of Anaheim Hills.

SCAG charged in April, 1973, and has not veered from the position that:

"The project is inconsistent with the Southern California Regional Development Guide recommendations, in that the amount of growth to be accommodated exceeds that shown in the guide;

"No action should be taken by FHA regarding any project in the Nohl Ranch area which is in agricultural preserve under the Williamson Act; and,"

"FHA is requested to hold a public hearing on the total effects of the project based upon concern expressed by local agencies and organizations."

Doyle pointed out that on one page of the SCAG report the projected population of Anaheim Hills is given as 49,000 "and on the very next page it's down to 37,000."

SCAG claims "the city of Anaheim does not have a plan and program for local water distribution and sewage collection."

"Anaheim does have such a program," Doyle said. "And what business is it of SCAG whether Anaheim does or does not? We're building the water and sewage systems and giving them to the city of Anaheim."

Referring to the agricultural preserve agreement signed in 1969 by the county and former ranch owner Louis Nohl, Doyle said that in May the Orange County planning commission refused to conduct an advertised public hearing into the firm's contract cancellation request. Instead it rejected Anaheim Hills' EIR because, the commission chairman claimed, the EIR did not disclose a general plan for land within the preserve.

The agreement calls for the county to develop a general plan for land use within the 10-year life of the contract, Doyle said, and no work on such a plan has been undertaken. The agreement also provides for a lower tax assessment on the property.

Anaheim Hills is willing to pay to develop the general plan and will develop it in conjunction with, and with the supervision of the county and city of Anaheim, he went on. However, no such expenditure will be made while the contract is in effect.

The firm also is willing to pay the required penalty fee for cancellation of the contract and to pay the increased property taxes when the preserve land is reassessed to its highest and best use.

"To do otherwise would require the Orange County taxpayers to continue to subsidize Anaheim Hills through the life of the preserve contract," Doyle said.

There is little question the ultimate development of Anaheim Hills will contribute to an increase in pollution emissions, Doyle conceded. But in order to halt further emissions, all development within area 41, must be halted along with development in Santa Ana Canyon and areas which contribute to air pollution, he they within Los Angeles, Orange or Riverside counties.

In the planned community area of Anaheim, plans call for development of 664 acres with 1,055 single-family units, 1,656 multiple family units including 120 apartment units and 1,536 townhouse units, for a density of 3.9 units per gross acre. Actual densities, however, are much lower, he said.

Overall development within the ranch cannot be planned with complete accuracy, Doyle said, but as of now, overall ranch planning calls for less than 9,000 units on an estimated 2,400 of the 4,200 acres owned by Anaheim Hills.

As to FHA-Sponsored public hearings on the effects of the project, Doyle said Anaheim Hills has undertaken a broad and varied program to keep close contact with communities

DEAR ABBY

Cool It With The Professor

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I enrolled in a night class and found myself very much attracted to my professor. He's in his middle thirties, and I'm 22. I purposely got a ride to class one night and asked him if he would give me a ride home. He did, and we sat in front of my house talking for over an hour, and I know he enjoyed it as much as I did.

He didn't ask to see me after that, but I could tell he was very conscious of me. Thinking he needed a bit more encouragement, I wrote him a note telling him I wasn't looking for an affair, just a friendship. He didn't acknowledge the note so I dropped by his office to ask if he had received it. He said he had, but he didn't want to get "involved."

I asked him what he thought of me, and he said: "I think you are 'nice,' but it's not a good idea for us to see each other outside of school."

Abby, I can't forget him. I think he could care for me if he would let himself. Why is he fighting me? I'm not the kind of girl who usually throws herself at men, but I would give anything if I could win him over.

How can I get my foot in the door?

DIGS HIM

DEAR DIGS: First get your foot out of your mouth. I fear you've already turned him off with your aggressiveness. Cool it. If there is to be any next move, he will have to make it. But don't be disappointed if he doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbors are lovely people. They are both in their early sixties. Well, "Mister" loves to smoke cigars, and "Mrs." will not let him smoke cigars in the house, so he goes out in the backyard and smokes up a blue storm every evening after supper. Their backyard joins ours.

We have a picnic table in our backyard, and enjoy eating outside, but the fumes from his cigar drift to our dining area and spoil my appetite. [We live in Iowa, and there's not much of a breeze here.]

They are such nice neighbors, always giving us flowers and vegetables from their garden. Should we say anything? Or just eat indoors? I can't take that cigar smoke.

NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Try diverting the cigar pollution with an electric fan. I am no smoke-lover, but any man who enjoys his cigar so much he lets his wife chase him out of the house to smoke it needs sympathy and a little compassion.

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago I had a vasectomy. My wife's gynecologist is well aware of this fact. Knowing this, he prescribed birth control pills for my wife.

Don't you think a proper doctor should have consulted me for my opinion before doing this?

I love my wife, but she insists that what she does with her body is her own business.

CONFUSED IN VANCOUVER

DEAR CONFUSED: Why the confusion? A proper doctor's first responsibility is to prescribe for his patient's needs. I'd say your wife's doctor is doing just that.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SMASHED BUT HAPPY IN BEVERLY HILLS": "Drink does not drown care, but waters it, and makes it grow faster." [Benjamin Franklin.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 5

Your birthday today: Opens a whole new deal in which it becomes more important why you do things than what you do. Political expansion is to be avoided until you're much better set than is the case now. Be prepared all year for the unexpected, with an open mind for potential changes, temporary expedients. Relationships are subject to varying stresses. Today's natives are systematic, practical, imaginative.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Vivid ideas, perhaps at practical joke level, are abundant; but nobody gets much done today. Come to grips with basic problems, questions tomorrow. Taurus (April 20-May 20): Routine matters glide along with no special fuss. Leave innovations or changes out of the picture for the moment as nobody's ready. This is no time for rushing things.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): It should be such a pleasant day in social terms that you almost don't notice that little or no progress is being made on material improvement. Whatever you do, do it in style!

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Stick with previously settled schedules despite attractive distractions. Travel involves even more excitement. Everyone is predisposed to slips of the tongue, and secrets get loose all day.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Take time out for housekeeping, maintenance details, belated or unfinished routines. Younger people deserve and probably take a great deal of your attention. Postpone major projects. They are just as well let rest.

ANTI-AUSTRIAN ALLIANCE

An alliance between Russia and Prussia against Austria was formally concluded on June 8, 1762.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Simply because you get a flash of imagination this morning doesn't mean you can apply it immediately. Go on with things as they were until you've had time to think out a whole new plan.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Suddenly you realize yourself changing, finding yourself involved in ways you hadn't dreamed. Today's lively pace carries you swiftly over details which have to be recalled and worked over later.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Take nothing seriously except your optimism and the telltale gestures people make which add perspective to what they say. By nightfall you will have plenty to puzzle over.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Think in terms of future expansion. Concentrate on the amenities, light entertaining, just getting better acquainted. Business deals can be worked out more advantageously later on.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Side issues tend to be productive, for a change, while the main enterprise lags a bit. Make no promises on the basis of today's conditions. Spend time with good-natured friends.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Contact with distant affairs is tenuous. Turn your main energies to matters where you can make minor revisions. Skip no formalities, much as you may be in a mood for a shortcut.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The wheel of life turns round once more—the more things change, the more they return to being the same. Enjoy today. Ambition is for another day.

30-Year Career Of Ticonderoga Comes To End

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) —

The USS Ticonderoga, CVS-14, ship of the line in three wars, rescuer of astronauts and 30-year-old Navy carrier, exits today from front-page glory to the oblivion of a tidal mud flat.

Ticonderoga's soft-spoken Hoosier skipper Capt. Norman K. Green went through the bittersweet assignment of shepherding Tico through her moments of glory and then turned over the chores of palbearing her at the end of a line to either be suffocated in "mothballs" or digested into scrap.

Capt. George W. Bruce took over command Aug. 15 and has managed the deactivation process which ends today when the ship is to be decommissioned. He served as executive officer before taking command.

Unlike so many ships of the line whose "glorious" end came in battle amid the thunder and crash of gunfire and the cries of the dying, Tico's last proud mission was to find, nurture and return safely to San Diego the Skylab crewmen who splashed down in the Pacific off Baja California two months ago.

She returned to San Diego for her last spasm of glory. There were brass bands, cheering crowds and the focusing of television cameras. But within hours after the astronauts had gone, some 50 technicians stethoscoped Tico's vitals, and probed her innards to decide whether she was worth preserving or fit only for junk. The final decision from Washington was expected soon.

Tico has already had one reprieve from the cutting torch. She was mothballed in 1947 when many of her sister ships were doomed. Then in 1952 she made her comeback with a face lifting and some glandular surgery that restored her to the fleet as ship of the line.

Ticonderoga's thousands of alumni are spread throughout every state in the union. She has been the home-away from home for homesick, seasick farm kids from the Dakotas, for wide-eyed blacks from New York's ghettos and gold-encrusted admirals who ruled her from high in her superstructure.

She has been the nursery for many a damp-eared ensign who began his long climb to four stripes and an admiral's star in her cavernous hull. And many a tail hooker made his first carrier landing with heart in throat and sweating palms on her decks. To many a Navy aviator nursing home a shot-up fighter off Japan or Vietnam, her broad bottom was the most beautiful piece of femininity ever to grace any ocean.

For seemingly endless weeks during her career, some 3,500 sweating, bone-tired bodies have been jammed together in her 912-foot hull working 18-hour days fighting for their ship.

As a fighter, Ticonderoga dealt out far more than she received, but she took her lumps in January of 1945 in the Philippines when two Kamikazis left her in flames. The incident left 141 of her crew dead or missing and another 142 wounded, including their captain. After a two month convalescence, Tico returned to the wars for America's final attacks on a Japanese main island.

"Old Shake, Rattle and Roll" has more than a million miles on all of the seven seas since her birth in the Newport News, Va., shipyard 30 years ago. She's fought blizzards, typhoons, and hurricanes, but there's little use for her labors in the approaching days of nuclear power and during today's peace.

So she has been stripped practically naked in the past weeks in preparation for her mothballing or destruction. In some soundproofed, air-conditioned room in the Pentagon they'll decide whether it will be the mud flats of Puget Sound or the cutting torch of the scrap yard.

There will be no official ceremony, no obituary, when she is towed out past Point Loma: but word will get around just as it always does when an old friend dies. And there will be a typically Navy wake. In scores of bars from Missoula to Memphis once bravny arms with faded tattoos will hoist a beer for the "best damn ship in the navy."

JEAN ADAMS' TEEN FORUM

Threat: (Q) After six months I realize I don't love Reg. I want to date other boys. But when I mentioned breaking up he threatened to run off and kill himself. Every time I try to talk about us he says he will commit suicide if I leave him.

I know he has many problems at home, and I would feel guilty for breaking up with him even if he didn't carry out his threats. My mother and best friend tell me I am not being fair to myself going steady with Reg when I don't want to.

But I don't want to hurt him, and I am afraid leaving him would hurt him badly. What do you think?—Desperate in Indiana.

(A) You are being unfair to yourself. You are being unfair to Reg, too, by continuing to go steady with him. In doing so, you are pretending to love him, or at least that you like to be with him, which is not the truth. By not taking action in accord with the truth, you are living a lie.

He is also being unfair to you by blackmailing you. He may not realize his threats are blackmail, but they are.

Tell him, in the kindest words you can find, that it is all over. Then stick to it.

I have heard of many boys threatening to kill themselves if their girl friends leave them. I haven't heard of a single boy actually doing it.

Girl-Shy: (Q) I am very shy with girls. I can't get near enough to one to find out if she likes me. I get nervous even if a girl looks at me. Do you have any tips on how to get over being the way I am? I am 15.—Scared in Delaware.

(A) It is time for you to start teaching yourself to be comfortable around girls. A good step No. 1 is to select one you feel relatively at ease with. She doesn't have to be a girl friend type. She might be a neighbor, a girl you sit next to in class, or a friend of your sister that you see at home.

She can be younger or older. Practice talking with her, in person and over the telephone. When you discover that she doesn't bite or growl, you will be less afraid to talk to some other girl.

After the second, talk to a third, and a fourth, and so on. Gradually the list of girls to whom you can talk without pain will grow, and so will your confidence.

More Cemetery Plots Available To U.S. Veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An additional 53,680 burial places for military veterans were made available in national cemeteries around the country.

Saturday was the effective date of a new law President Nixon signed June 18 putting the National Cemetery System under the jurisdiction of the Veterans Administration and incorporating 21 VA cemeteries into the system.

VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson said in a statement that the 53,680 additional grave sites will be available to any military veterans. VA cemeteries previously were limited almost exclusively to those who died in VA facilities.

The new law also provides a $150 plot allowance for veterans buried in private cemeteries, in addition to the existing $250 burial allowance, and carries funeral allowances of up to $800 on behalf of veterans dying from service-connected causes.

Excluded from the national system, at least for the time being, are Arlington National Cemetery, cemeteries at the three service academies, the U.S. Soldiers and Airmen's Home Cemetery in Washington and the U.S. Naval Home Cemetery in Philadelphia.

If you can keep from looking at either the South or the East hands you can get full enjoyment out of today's article.

If you let your partner hold the trick and he has the three of hearts in his hand he will continue and you will set declarer two tricks. If he doesn't hold that little card, declarer will have time to knock out your ace of diamonds before you can cash more than three heart tricks and will make his contract.

If you overtake your partner's queen and play the nine-spot you will set up two more heart tricks and beat the contract unless declarer can collect eight tricks in the black suits. What do you do?

The answer is that you should overtake. You will look mighty silly if your play gives him the contract, but the odds are against his being able to take eight tricks in the black suits and you want to beat him if you possibly can do so.

SUPREME COURT RULING

On June 8, 1953, the U.S. Supreme Court rules, 8-0, that restaurants in the District of Columbia may not legally refuse to serve well-behaved respectable Negro patrons.

Maybe you'll smoke them for the same reason I do.

There's been a lot of words in the papers about smoking.

Kind of reminds me of that old line—'everything I like is either illegal, immoral, or fattening.'

Now I won't say that I wasn't hassled by what I read.

But, I just didn't want to give up smoking. I guess I enjoy it too much. But it sure was enough to get me thinking.

So I tried one of those low 'tar' menthols. It was like sucking a straw of hot air.

Then I noticed that a lot of guys I knew smoked Vantage Menthol. Its special filter didn't make Vantage the lowest 'tar' and nicotine menthol. Just the lowest they enjoyed.

So I tried it, and liked it. And discovered something else I liked, too. The tobacco taste comes through the menthol.

Now I can feel I'm still smoking a cigarette. Not a piece of menthol candy.

If you like Vantage Menthol as much as I do, you could wind up writing their next ad.

Caruthers Wins Talladega Race

TALLADEGA, Ala. (UPI) — Cale Caruthers, riding a Yamaha, won the 150-mile Grand National motorcycle championship Sunday with a speed of 104.778 miles per hour.

Caruthers, of San Diego, Calif., took the $6,275 prize by beating rookie Steve Baker of Washington State by 32 seconds at Alabama International Motor Speedway here.

Third place finisher was Gary Fisher of Clarksburg, Penn., as Yamahas took the first five places in the finish.

JAILING OF LIDDY SUPPORTED BY COX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox maintains that Chief U. S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica acted within his powers in jailing convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy for his refusal to testify before the Watergate grand jury.

Cox presented his arguments in two briefs filed with the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Liddy, a mastermind of the June 1972 bugging of the Democratic offices, was convicted without testifying in the January trial of the original Watergate defendants. In March, Judge Sirica granted him immunity from further prosecution so that he could testify before the grand jury about Watergate.

But, Liddy refused to testify on grounds that his conviction was under appeal and that he was a "target witness." Sirica held him in civil contempt, ordered his criminal sentence of 6 to 20 years interrupted, and sent him to the District of Columbia Jail for up to 18 months. Liddy appealed the contempt order.

"Liddy, as a person who had already been convicted and was no longer a target or potential defendant in the grand jury's arguable basis for disobeying the district court's order to testify," one 27-page brief said.

"The district court, therefore, acted within its power when it stayed Liddy's criminal sentence during his confinement for civil contempt," the other 32-page brief said.

'Free Love' Flap
QUIMPERLE, France (UPI) — A Youth and Sports Ministry inspector has closed the Kerfany-les-Pins youth camp because some of the counselors advocated free love, French radio said Sunday. Six counselors and the assistant director of the Brittany camp were fired and the young campers sent home.

Poll Says Nixon Would Still Have Won In '72

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon would still have received more votes than Sen. George McGovern if it had been possible to hold a replay of the 1972 presidential election following the Watergate revelations, according to the Time-Yankelovich poll.

Forty per cent of the voters would have gone along with the President while 38 per cent would have supported McGovern, results of the poll indicated.

The rest of those surveyed would vote for neither man or were uncertain.

The poll also showed that the front runners for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976 were Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee; Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California — each with 14 per cent. Former Gov. John Connally of Texas was a close fourth with 13 per cent.

while Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Vice President Spiro Agnew each received 10 per cent.

Time said other results of the survey taken by Daniel Yankelevitch, Inc., showed:

— Even after President Nixon's recent TV address and press conference most Americans still believe he is not telling the complete truth about Watergate.

— Americans by and large do not want Nixon to leave the presidency.

— The public is becoming bored by the Watergate affair.

Ervin Payroll 3rd Highest Among Panels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate committee has 69 employees and a monthly payroll of nearly $85,000, the third largest among Senate committees.

The figures are given in a report issued by the secretary of the Senate.

The Senate has voted a $1 million budget for the committee, but when other expenses are added to the salaries the figure will probably be exceeded when the panel completes its work in February. Salaries alone will total $850,000 by February if they continue at the current rate.

The committee has considerable other expenses. Each witness is given travel expenses — John D. Ehrlichman was paid for two round trips from his home in Seattle — and an allowance for expenses while in Washington.

Committee members and staffers also have expenses involved in their investigation, including travel. A single copy of the 7,000-plus page transcript of the committee's hearings costs $3,500.

The report showed committee staff salaries for June totaled $84,341. The Labor and Public Welfare Committee spent $101,758 and the Commerce Committee $98,287.

By comparison, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Senate Judiciary Committee each spend a little more than $40,000 a month on salaries.

Chief Counsel Samuel L. Dash is the highest paid staff member on the committee, receiving a salary of $2,992 a month, which would amount to about $36,000 on an annual basis.

IN WAKE OF KICKBACK CLAIMS

GOP Divided On Agnew's Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many state Republican leaders believe Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 1976 presidential aspirations have been hurt by allegations of wrongdoing. But nearly as many believe he could turn the affair to his advantage should he prove his innocence.

A majority of the GOP state chairmen responding to a UPI survey expressed confidence that neither the Watergate scandal nor the investigation of the vice president in connection with an alleged kickback scheme would seriously affect Republican chances in next year's congressional and state elections.

Of the 47 chairmen who replied, 13 said they thought Agnew had been damaged by the charges, and declined further comment; 13 expressed support for the vice president and said he would not be hurt—or might even be helped—if his innocence is established; 13 thought it would be premature to speculate on the effects; and 8 declined to comment.

Agnew has vehemently denied allegations that he received kickbacks from state contractors while he was Baltimore County chief executive and governor of Maryland, and he has protested leaks to news media of the federal investigation of his activities. Even so, the latest Gallup Poll found Agnew's support down from 35 per cent last April to 22 per cent in August, putting him in a tie for the lead with California Gov. Ronald Reagan. Among the other 10 prospective candidates listed were New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

Vermont GOP Chairman Stewart Smith was among those who foresaw only adverse effects for Agnew as a result of the investigation, saying: "I think he's probably been hurt to a degree, whether he's guilty or not guilty. The implications of accusations tend to hurt a candidate."

Said Oregon Chairman David Green: "I think it probably has very definitely affected Agnew's chances. He's no longer the obvious front runner." Florida Chairman L. E. "Tommy" Thofas: "Just the fact that he has been charged definitely will hurt him. Even if he comes out completely clean, just having been accused will hurt him."

Chairman Herman Brown of Delaware agreed Agnew was politically harmed "even if he is cleared completely."

On the other hand, Oklahoma State Chairman Clarence Warner said that if Agnew is not indicted, publicity about the affair "will probably help him. People have a low tolerance toward the attempted persecution of those in office."

"If all the charges are proved unfounded, I don't think it would damage him, and it could help," said Richard Bennett, Alabama chairman. But he qualified that: "If there should be any lingering suspicion or taint whatsoever, I think it would damage him severely."

Illinois State Chairman Donald Adams said the investigation "has to hurt the man. But if he is proven innocent, he may come out even stronger."

North Carolina Chairman Frank Rouse said he thought Agnew had "done an excellent job of handling the situation. At this stage of the game, it hasn't hurt him."

Chairman Kent B. McGough said Agnew's denials of wrongdoing were "very favorably received in Ohio. If nothing comes of it, Agnew may even be helped."

Then there was the "wait and see" attitude.

"Anyone who speculates on 1976 (regarding Agnew's chances) at this time is very foolish," said Michigan GOP leader William McLaughlin.

The state party leaders said they saw no sign at the moment that the Watergate affair or the Agnew matter would affect the outcome of local and state contests this year or next.

Some said GOP fund-raising had become more difficult this year, but predicted that Republican money would again be flowing for the state and congressional races in 1974.

The chairmen who responded were unanimous in abhorring the bugging scandal and absolving the responsibility for the GOP, both national and local, of any responsibility for it.

FISHING FOR FOOD — Two sisters belonging to the religious order of the Daughters of Charity have found that not only does charity begin at home, but so does frugality. So, in these days

FOR LINK WITH TEXAS SEX RING

Pornographic Films Probed

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Vice officers are investigating a possible link between the arrest of two men here for using young boys as "actors" in underground sex films and what was believed to be a male prostitution ring in Texas.

Guy Strait, 53, Hollywood, and Melvin Cecil Reynolds, 38, Culver City, Calif., were arrested Saturday night on suspicion of child molestation, capping a five-week investigation. They were held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Strait—who police said was one of the largest producers of homosexual films in the West—was released Sunday and scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Thursday.

Police said the film-making operation recruited runaway boys from throughout the country through a contact man who advertised in underground or sex-oriented newspapers and magazines.

The contact reportedly also "circulated in locations frequented by runaway boys and picked them up that way."

Viewing of the confiscated films revealed that they were filmed throughout the Midwest and other areas of the country, police said.

Boys between the ages of 9 and 15 were used in the films and photographs. Three boys, aged 13, 14 and 15, were taken into protective custody when Strait and Reynolds were arrested.

Police said the boys were not from Texas, but others used in the pornographic films apparently were, and authorities checked with officials in Dallas and Houston to determine if there was any tie-in with a ring which supposedly supplied hundreds of teen-age boys as prostitutes for older men across the country.

A spokesman said the investigation began when an undercover vice officer purchased a reel of film from the suspects.

Sightings Of UFOs Continue

MANCHESTER, Ga. (UPI)—Two policemen said they had spotted a "white glowing object" with blue lights speeding across the horizon early today. It was the fourth straight day Georgia residents have reported seeing unidentified flying objects.

Two state troopers said they used binoculars to track the latest UFO near this West Georgia town. They said the craft had a "blue and a white light on either side and something hanging underneath."

Local authorities reported about 20 phone calls from other persons claiming to have seen the UFO.

A newspaper publisher in Camilla photographed one of the objects Saturday night. Chester A. Tatum, publisher of the Sowega Free Press, said the craft had a "ribbed type design" and hovered some 1,000 feet above land.

Military authorities have refused comment about the rash of UFO sightings.

Landmine Blast Kills Rhodesia Officer's Wife

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—A landmine blast killed the wife of a white Rhodesian policeman Sunday in the northeastern Rhodesian border area with Mozambique, Security Force headquarters said Monday.

At the same time, a government spokesman denied that Rhodesian troops and warplanes have crossed the border with Mozambique, as alleged by a London Sunday newspaper. He said the London Observer story by David Martin was "groundless."

A security headquarters communique said Mrs. Margaret Ann Ward was driving with her husband, Section officer David Ward, when their car hit the landmine. Ward was cut and bruised by the blast but the couple's two children who were in the car were unharmed.

India Flood Victims Rescued By Troopers

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The land ruining crops worth millions of dollars, Indian news agencies reported.

The Press Trust of India (PTI) said the floods have washed away 20,000 cattle in the central Indian state of Madhya Pradesh and 1,000 in the western state of Gujarat neighboring Pakistan's flood-devastated Sind Province.

India's River of Reverence, the Ganges, overflowed its bank Sunday night and flooded the low-lying thickly populated area of the Hindu holy city of Benares, the Central Flood Control Center reported Monday.

An official count placed the deaths in the late monsoon floods at 78, but newspapers reported many more are feared killed. The states of Gujarat in the west, Rajasthan to the north and Madhya Pradesh to the east are the worst affected.

Several rivers in upper India fed by last week's heavy rainfall, abnormal at this part of the season, broke their banks and submerged miles of farm-

Health, Safety Thorny Issues In Auto Talks

DETROIT (UPI)—Health and safety conditions in the nation's auto plants must be improved so they don't fester and explode, United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas A. Fraser said Monday.

Fraser met with newsmen following a Labor Day bargaining session with Chrysler Corp., just 12 days away from a possible strike. He said taking care of the health and safety issue in the new contract was as much a stumbling block to settlement as voluntary overtime.

While the session produced no movement by the company on voluntary overtime, both Fraser and UAW President Leonard Woodcock said "it was more constructive" than earlier meetings.

Unless the UAW and Chrysler can agree to a pattern-setting auto industry contract by 11:59 p.m. Sept. 14, the company's 127,500 U.S. and Canadian auto workers may strike. Ford and General Motors, which also must come to terms on new contracts, would be allowed to continue building new cars if Chrysler is closed.

Poor working conditions were blamed in part for three recent wildcat strikes at Detroit-area Chrysler plants. Two of the disputes were started by radical workers in the plants.

While Fraser said there has been "slowdown" in radical activity in Detroit-area auto plants, he said Chrysler has not indicated a willingness to allow the union to take part in cleaning up the plants.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Thaddeus saw and believed. But in Christ's day, many saw but "Kowtowed to Kings" and thus let their local doctors call Jesus a "quack," as the FDA now tries to besmirch Dr. A. C. Ivy, the world's greatest living physiologist, even admitted so by Russia!

CASE Y-508: Thaddeus W., aged 29, is a Georgia clergyman.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "my father had been a victim of crippling arthritis for 3 years. He finally was confined to a wheel chair."

"He couldn't even feed himself, for his joints were 'frozen,' and no medical treatments had been of any avail."

"But one day Mother read him your column about the possible value of the ocean's water-soluble trace chemicals."

"You had mentioned your father-in-law's case, whose right hip had been frozen via arthritis for a dozen years, and then it loosened within 4 months after he drank a little ocean water daily."

"Well, Dad asked me to bring him back some jugs of sea water when I drove to Jacksonville, Florida, for a ministerial conference."

"And he started taking about a quarter of a glassful daily, distributed in small amounts in milk, tomato juice, etc."

"Within a month, he was feeding himself!"

"In two months he was up, walking with a cane."

"Now 4 months have passed and he is apparently completely over his arthritis, for he is back on the farm, operating it as he formerly did."

"If some one or more of those 44 trace elements in the ocean water made this remarkable improvement in Dad, why don't more people try a little sea water daily?"

"For they could go to the oceans or Gulf of Mexico at little cost or else have friends along the shoreline send them a little ocean water."

KOWTOWING TO KINGS
"Why didn't more of Christ's contemporaries go to Jesus for his miraculous cures?" I replied.

Probably 25,000 blind, deaf, crippled and leprosy folks were within the sound of Christ's voice during his 3-year ministry.

Yet he healed only a few, including one group of 10 lepers.

Why didn't the others rush to Jesus for similar healing?

Probably for the same reason that 6,000,000 cancer victims have died in the last 20 years during which time the FDA and AMA have had a pathological panic lest Dr. Ivy's horse blood hormone be used.

"Kowtowing to Kings" is Fallacy No. 3 in the booklet below.

It refers to the meek acquiescence by most laymen to the dictates of any popularly accepted authorities.

In Christ's day the clergy regarded him as an impostor and the medics considered him a quack.

So at least 24,000 of those 25,000 blind, deaf and leprosy folks remained enslaved by their ailments because they uncritically "Kowtowed" to what compared with our present FDA and AMA.

Remember, the medics have often been wrong, as when they attacked Dr. Jenner for his smallpox vaccination discovery and tried to ostracize Pasteur from his native France.

In Hungary, they hounded Dr. Semmelweis into an insane asylum; then later erected a statue to him as one of the world's greatest doctors!

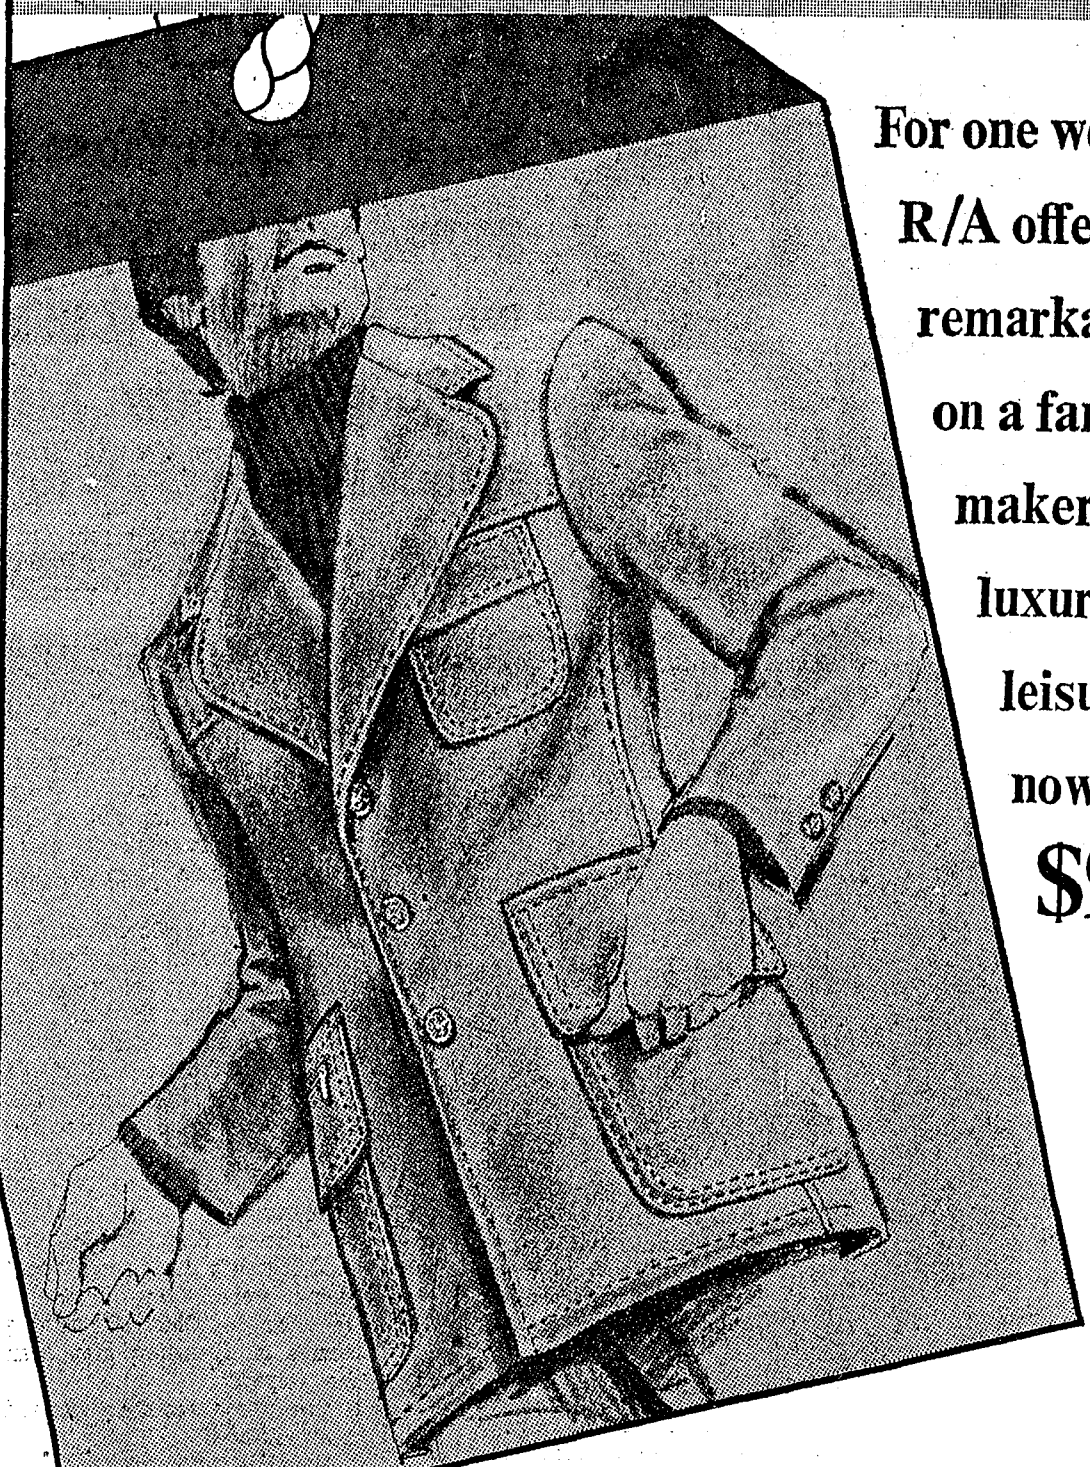

A clergyman in Mississippi had a cancerous wife who had been sent home to die within a month.

Desperately, he tried sea water on her, and she bounced back from 85 pounds to her normal 115. She seemed O.K. for 4 years, till he moved away and the new doctors pooh-poohed trace chemicals. Then she died!

Send for my booklet "Common Fallacies in Logic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

Address: Dr. George W. Crane, care of The Register, Syndicate Bldg., Melott, Ind.

DOCTOR SAYS

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—You have commented on acid in the stomach in some of your columns. I had an ulcer operation and they cut the vagus nerve, which I understand is supposed to control the flow of acid in your stomach. Would you comment on this in your column, and how it affects the stomach acid?

Dear Reader — The stomach normally produces hydrochloric acid. The acid in conjunction with pepsin, also produced by the stomach, begins the initial digestion of proteins.

The acid pepsin formation in the stomach is stimulated by the vagus nerve. The nerve cells for the vagus originate in the brain stem and the nerve fibers then are passed extensively over the entire digestive tract and other regions of the body. You can stimulate the nerve and immediately the little cells in the wall of the stomach that produce acid digestive juice begin to pump out this material. It is this nerve connection that enables psychic stress, or any other form of stimulation that reaches the brain, to affect the stomach's production of acid pepsin juice.

Not all stimuli that reach the brain, then stimulate the stomach to pour out acid pepsin juice, are stressful. The sight of appealing food stimulates the brain. The impulse is relayed to the vagus nerve and then to the stomach. The smell of favorite food cooking is another input.

Ulcer patients usually have an overproduction of acid digestive juice from cells in the wall of the stomach. Whenever surgery is used in such an individual, it's common to remove part of the stomach, thereby eliminating parts of the cells and to cut the vagus nerve, thereby eliminating the nerve stimulus to cause these cells to produce acid digestive juice.

This does not mean that acid digestive juice ceases to be formed. It's just decreased to a much smaller amount. The cells in the stomach can produce acid digestive juice on their own but will usually not produce excessive amounts if there is no vagus stimulation.

Much the same effects of surgery are achieved through various medicines. Probanthine and atropine-like drugs all have the chemical effect of blocking nerve impulses along the vagus. Such medicines literally induce "chemical surgery of the vagus nerve."

How effective the surgery is depends a lot on the individual case, whether or not a portion of the stomach was removed, how much, and even how the vagus is cut, and if the fibers of the vagus nerve are regenerated or resume their old stimulatory effect.

Finally, I would have to say in either medical or surgical treatment of ulcers, part of the success depends on changing living habits that may have been the major factor in causing the problem to start with. This includes eliminating the use of cigarettes, alcohol, excessive amounts of coffee and nervous or emotional tension or stress originating either because of occupational or family situations.

Many patients with ulcers cannot be adequately treated unless the cause of the psychic stress can be eliminated or reduced. This may mean a change in jobs for some people.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's new booklet on ulcers, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Ulcers" booklet.

Parents Let Son Die To 'Save Others'

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — "Five specialists told us he was not really living. The tubes simply forced his breath in and out."

Thus did Mrs. Lester Wojcik explain her and her husband's decision to let their critically injured son die so that his kidneys could be used to save the lives of two other persons.

A 40-year-old Orlando woman was the recipient of one of the kidneys, and she was reported in good condition Friday after a transplant operation. Hospital officials said the other kidney was sent to another hospital, but would give no other details.

The Wojciks' 20-year-old son, Paul, an outstanding student at Florida State University, was injured Sunday night when his car was struck by another vehicle that had been stolen. The driver of the second car fled on foot after the accident and is still being sought.

Young Wojcik was kept breathing until Tuesday when his parents told doctors to remove the tubes from their son after being told he had no chance of recovery.

"The doctors told us from the beginning there was no hope," Mrs. Wojcik said. "His brain was damaged so severely the machines registered no activity. Five specialists told us he was not really living. The tubes simply forced his breath in and out."

The parents said doctors also told them Paul's condition would deteriorate very fast and that two persons were hovering near death in need of kidney transplants.

The Wojciks, of Winter Haven, also consulted their family priest and he told them the Catholic Church holds that "extraordinary means" of preserving life, such as use of the respirator, need not be continued.

"I think it would help to be able to think there is someone who probably wouldn't be alive if Paul hadn't lived," his father said of the decision.

"If Paul could have decided, that's what he would have wanted," his mother added.

The Wojciks have one other son, Mark, 25, who is a student studying for his masters degree at the University of South Florida.

Wojcik is a guidance counselor at Lake Brantley High School and Mrs. Wojcik is a former teacher.

Strike Talks In Chile At Standstill

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Negotiations between thousands of striking truckers and the government were at a standstill Saturday. The government said it was studying ways to break the crippling strike.

The conflict, now in its 38th day, has cost Chile more than $100 million in lost production, according to President Salvador Allende.

A sympathy strike by physicians and other medical personnel also continued into the weekend, and merchants remained on "alert" to close down their shops again after a 36-hour walkout last week.

Commercial airline pilots announced a 72-hour strike in "solidarity" with the transport workers to begin today at midnight. The strike would not affect the state-owned international airline, LAN Chile.

"No one from SCAG ever has been to the ranch," Doyle said. "No member of the board, no representatives from Riverside city or county have contacted us to ask questions about Anaheim Hills," he said.

Fall Shows Booked For Fashion Guild

FASHION CONSCIOUS—It's off to a modeling assignment for Nancy Bohls, left, and Judy Williams, members of Newport Beach Fashion Guild. In its third year, the organization is composed of free lance models, fashion coordinators and commentators and others interested in fashion. Its next meeting will be held Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Newport Beach home of president Mrs. I.W. Sturgis. Interested professional models and people employed in the fashion field may attend. Activities planned for fall include fashion shows for the Officer's Wives League of Newport and Children's Home Society of Los Alamitos. Mrs. Sturgis may be contacted for additional information.

She Says Family Who Camps Together Gets Cramps Together

There is nothing in this world any more appealing than an ad for a camping trailer. It pictures an hysterical family of four grouped around a fire on a deserted beach. The kids are carrying wood and playing Frisbee. The family dog is chasing the family rabbit (in jest not lust). And Daddy (looking like Mark Trail) is whittling the heads of four Presidents out of an old tree trunk.

Well, I am here to tell you that the family who camps together gets cramps together.

We have been camping for seven years and we have yet to have an evening where we all go to bed speaking to one another. The problem has remained the same for the past seven years: parking the trailer.

Some trailer parks have "pull in" parking spaces. This is for marriages that cannot stand too much strain. For the rest of us there is the trailer park where you have to back in the trailer, being careful to line up evenly with the picnic tables, the water and sewer hook-ups.

To assist my husband with this task, there are two large mirrors on either side of the car, three children, one adult (a high school graduate) and a barking dog. Before I record our dialogue I will only comment, "You never know what you have married until you have seen him back up a 24-foot travel trailer into a spot between two trees."

Helpers: "Turn your wheels."

Husband: "Which way?"

Helpers: "That way."

Husband: "Which way is THAT way. I don't have eyes in the back of my head. You have to say right or left."

Helpers: "Right...no left...no right."

Husband: "Make up your mind. And which wheels right, the car or the trailer?"

Helpers: "Back up. Now stop. Stop. STOP! Why didn't you stop?"

Husband: "I couldn't hear you with the dog barking and in all this rain."

Helpers: "It isn't raining. You hit the water connection. When we motion like this..."

Husband: "I'll pull up and back in again. Now, for crying out loud, guide me."

Helpers: (waving madly).

Husband: "Why are you directing me in this way?"

Helpers: "We weren't. We were just waving to our neighbors."

Husband: "It's a crummy time to get friendly. Why don't you wait till I'm parked."

Helpers: "We'd better be friendly now. You just backed into your tent. You know the trouble with you...etc., etc., etc."

We should have learned something from the pioneers. They had the entire west to park in and they pulled their wagons into a circle.

District Season Gets Under Way

Orange District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will begin fall activities Friday, Sept. 14, with a meeting in the Santa Ana Elks Club, 2125 Mabury, Santa Ana.

Registration, under the direction of the district credentials committee with Mrs. Carl Jensen, chairman, will begin at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Murray J. Granger, district president, will call the morning session to order at 10 a.m. District music chairman, Mrs. John Coffey, will direct the assembly singing, following the renewal of the pledge of allegiance by Mrs. Robert Calderwood, district American heritage chairman.

The welcome will be given by Mrs. Ross Reed, president of the La Habra Woman's Club, the hostess club.

District California history, landmarks, and museums chairman, Mrs. William Carleton French, will give the history of La Habra. An art exhibit will be under the direction of Mrs. Gustaf Patzer, district visual art chairman.

Following a noon luncheon, Mrs. Ralph C. Fore, district second vice-president, will present the program by the "Martin Marionettes."

Pewter, Britannia Cause Confusion

Many collectors are still confused about the difference between pewter and Britannia ware, although both are alloys of tin.

Pewter has its own peculiar luster with a satiny surface that is "soft" to touch. It is not a shiny, bright metal. Rather it has a dull and often dark appearance.

Discovered some 4,000 years ago, its basic formula is tin and copper with lead and antimony or bismuth added in varying proportions to increase its workability. Generally, the higher the lead content, the cheaper the grade of pewter.

Few of the pewter items made for American colonists have survived for today's collectors. Tin was scarce, often unobtainable, for new pewter so that household pieces often were reworked. When a bowl became unusable, a spoon broken, a plate badly pitted, they were traded to the pewterer for new pieces. The pewterers usually charged the difference in weight between the old and the new plus a small fee for labor.

As industry grew in the new country, there was an increase in the production of pottery, glass and tinware which could be manufactured at fairly reasonable prices. Competition for the household market grew and pewterers began searching for a method of producing these products at a competitive price.

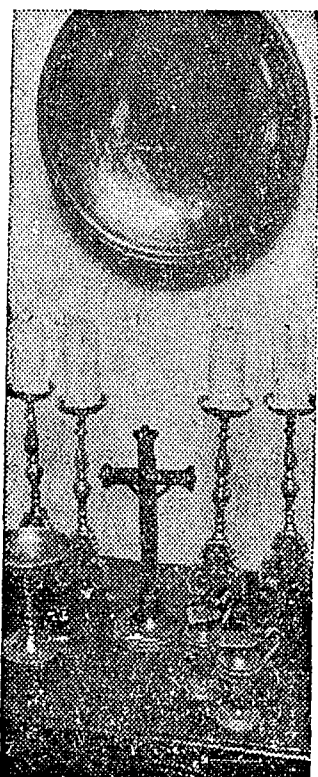

Britannia ware was the answer. Developed in the 1800s in England this pewter like metal was harder and more workable than pewter. It could be rolled in sheets and stamped or spun into desirable shapes. Britannia could be formed over wooden molds, eliminating expensive bronze molds and hand finishing. Mass production of the new ware could be achieved with the use of semi-skilled labor, cutting the cost even further.

Britannia is a trade name registered in England in 1842 by Richard Ford Sturges. This metal resembles pewter closely but Britannia is brighter and lighter in weight than pewter.

The ware was marked with the word "Britannia" or simply stamped with the letter "B" along with the maker's name and number. Pewter did not have to be marked by the maker but pewterers usually did apply various symbols to their work.

Reed and Barton, a firm that produces both sterling and plated silver today, produced Britannia ware during the mid-1800s.

Old pewter definitely will show signs of age with a roughened or pitted surface. It will have little luster and be darker than new pewter. If you want to polish an old piece of pewter, you will need lots of elbow grease, plain soap and water and a bit of silver polish. However, if the pewter is badly darkened, use a damp cloth with powdered pumice.

RELIGIOUS POPULARITY — Pewter was popular in churches until recently. Baptismal font, communion cup and 12th century crucifix shown are from the Burton Pell Collection.

Program To Feature Gospel Selections

Women members of Lake Hills Community Church, and guests will convene between 10 a.m. and noon Thursday, Sept. 20, at the Huntington Harbour home of Mrs. Edward Chetackian, church pianist, for a "demi-dejeuner."

A musical program of organ and piano solos and duets, including favorite gospel selections, will be provided by the hostess and John Powell Green, organist for the First United Methodist Church of Fullerton. Brunch will be served in a bayside setting.

Mrs. Harold F. Leestma, wife of the senior pastor and head of Women's Planning Council of the new walk-in, drive-in church, will present plans for monthly meetings, as well as a full schedule of daytime and evening monthly study circles that will be inaugurated in October. The circles will meet in six geographic areas, encompassing 23 cities in Orange County. Other projected events include a November home tour and an old-fashioned yule evening for women and their escorts in December.

Guests will be greeted by Mmes. Leestma and David E. Brown, demi-dejeuner chairman. Other members of the arrangements committee include Mmes. Gordon Luna, menu; Richard W. Cummings of Mission Viejo, ticket reservations; Joris F. Kenyon, transportation; and Raymond G. Fox, secretary pro tem.

One hundred reservations including assigned carpool transportation, will be arranged between services at the church, which temporarily meets in the auditorium of Los Alisos Intermediate School, Muirlands at Moor, Mission Viejo. Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Cummings.

MUSICAL PERFORMERS — Mrs. Edward Chetackian, hostess of the Thursday, Sept. 20, brunch for women of Lake Hills Community Church, will perform at the piano during the affair along with John Powell Green, organist. Mrs. Chetackian is pianist for the church facility which opened its doors in the spring for southern Orange County residents.

Volunteers To Explore Alcoholism

A forum on alcoholism will be presented at the Monday, Sept. 17, meeting of Orange County Council of Hospital Volunteers at 9:30 a.m. in South Coast Community Hospital, Laguna Beach.

Mrs. William Welch, president of the council and past president of Martin Luther Hospital Guild in Anaheim will preside at the meeting. Volunteers from the hospital will serve as hostesses.

The forum will highlight the CARE program recently instituted at South Coast to help combat the alcoholism problem. Welcoming the group will be B. F. Carr, hospital administrator.

Speakers and their subjects include H. M. Voorheis, director of program development, Comprehensive Care Corporation, "Alcoholism—Myths and Misconceptions"; Mrs. Muriel Zink, chief alcoholism therapist, CARE Unit, South Coast Community Hospital, "The CARE Program—How Does It Work?" and a panel discussion with DR. John Newsum, medical director, CARE Unit; John Wallace, Ph.D., clinical psychologist, CARE Unit; Susan Mardon, M.S.W., clinical social worker, CARE Unit; and Mrs. Zink.

A luncheon and tour of the hospital will follow. The afternoon session will be divided into workshops for presidents, secretaries, and treasurers.

Orange County Council was formed in 1960 to assist new hospital auxiliaries exchange ideas, and inform the public of volunteer work done in hospitals. The organization currently includes 27 auxiliaries. Any auxiliary interested in joining should contact Mrs. Welch, Fullerton.

ABWA Group Sets Dinner On Tuesday

Miss Winters Married To Rand B. Allen

Attired in an empire sheer nylon gown fashioned with full sleeves and high neckling, Christine Ann Winters pledged wedding vows Friday, Aug. 31, with Rand B. Allen before 300 guests in First Christian Church in Huntington Beach. The service was conducted by Thomas W. Overton.

Chantilly lace adorned the bodice and cuffs of the bride's gown. Lace panels accented the skirt front, around the lower edge and down the cathedral train. Her lace edged cathedral veil was held by a matching lace bandeau. She carried a cascade of staphanotis and baby's breath centered with an orchid corsage.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Thoms Gardner, matron of honor; Robyn Allan, maid of honor; and Mrs. Kathy Winters, Miss Debra Mrazik and Miss Jan Dungey, bridesmaids.

The bridegroom chose Michael Delo as his best man. Ushers included Dan Reed, Brad Wallace, John Winters and Jeff Irvine.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

After a honeymoon at Catalina, the young couple plan to make their home in Huntington Beach.

VOLUNTEERS—More than 100 volunteers in several departments back up the Lyric Opera production of "Annie Get Your Gun" at Irvine Bowl in Laguna Beach, Fridays and Saturdays, Sept. 7, 8, 14, 15, 21 and 22. Included are 40 women who under the direction of Bert Petter, make costumes. Completing an outfit for Teri Ralston who plays Annie are Mrs. Thomas Armstrong, president of the Opera League, and Bardena Bonillas, a volunteer in the costume department. Other volunteers assist in the wardrobe department, dressers, serve coffee, sell tickets and work backstage.

Miss Crista Penney Weds David P. Britt

Arizona, New Mexico and Texas are the honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Britt, nee Miss Crista J. Penney, following their marriage Saturday, Sept. 1, in Garden Grove Community Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Penney of Garden Grove are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Britt.

The bride was attired in a gown with a bodice of venise lace studded with iridescent pearls and a skirt of chiffon over satin, designed and made by her mother. Her chapel-length veil was held by a matching headpiece of lace and she carried a modern freeform cascade of gardenias and staphanotis.

Mrs. Craig R. Penney was matron of honor for the ceremony.

Gerald Behrends was best man with Joseph Harb and John Kenneally, ushers.

The reception was held in Country Club Mobile Manor, Santa Ana. The newlyweds will make their home in Santa Ana.

Hobbyist To Present Doll Collection At DAR Meeting

Mrs. Jay DeArmond of Stanton will present "Keeping History Alive Through Hobbies" for the first meeting of the season of Samuel Ramsey Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday, Sept. 13.

A luncheon will be held at noon in the Fireside Room of the Woman's Civic Club of Garden Grove, 9501 Chapman Ave., Garden Grove. Mrs. Walter S. French, vice regent and program chairman, will introduce Mrs.

DeArmond, owner of the Doll Museum located in Hobby City, Anaheim, who will have some of her Colonial dolls on display for the meeting.

Plans for the chapter's activities during the year include observance of Constitution Week, a luncheon honoring Mrs. Everett F. Jones, vice regent of the California State Society, NSDAR, a tea for the DAR Good Citizen Girls, a history essay contest to be conducted in the 7th and 8th grades of the Garden Grove Intermediate Schools, and placing a DAR historical marker on the Stanley House in Heritage Park.

The chapter budget for the coming year includes contributions to the American Red Cross, American History Scholarship Fund, DAR Schools, Constitution Hall

Maintenance, Aid to American Indians, Investment Trust Fund and National Defense.

Hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. Richard L. Adams, Paul E. Andres, Robert W. Babcock and Daniel H. Bartfield.

The chapter will be represented at the annual Constitution Week Luncheon to be given Saturday, Sept. 22 by the Orange County Past and Present Regent's Club, DAR. Mrs. Wallace B. Heiser, organizing secretary general, NSDAR, will be guest of honor and speaker for the event set in the Revere House.

A delegation of chapter members will also attend the Southern Council Meeting of the California State Society, to be held Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the Royal Inn, San Diego.

Lairds Way On Tax Form

One of the more original end runs around the truth by a member of the beleaguered Nixon administration, to borrow a term from the game favored by that same administration, has to be that of Melvin R. Laird the other day.

Far from pleading lapse of memory as others have done, the former secretary of Defense, who is now the President's counselor for domestic affairs, forthrightly stated that he had recommended secret bombing operations in Cambodia in 1969 and 1970 in order to hit Viet Cong sanctuaries and to save American lives in South Vietnam.

When asked at a news conference about the method by which the raids were kept secret, he confirmed that a "separate channel of reporting was established for these particular attacks."

The press was told only the bombing targeting in South Vietnam, which provided a credible cover story for the secret strikes.

But while admitting that "I did approve the separate reporting procedure on the Cambodian strikes," Laird went on to say that "I did not approve at any time the falsification of any Air Force, Navy or Defense Department records."

In other words, the truth about the Cambodian raids existed all the time and was available to those in the government with a "need to know." Though the press, and the public, were fed a lot of baloney, the secret records were never falsified.

Imagine a court hearing the same kind of defense from, say, a man charged with tax evasion.

"Yes, it's true that I did use a 'separate reporting procedure' in reporting only part of my income to the Internal Revenue Service. But I did not at any time falsify a second set of records I kept for my own use."

It would be a strange jury that would buy that argument. It would be a strange public that would buy the same kind of reasoning from one of its alleged servants.

Prisoner Out Before In

A Gastonia, N. Car., man convicted of second degree murder, has become eligible for parole before he even got to prison. That ought to discourage anyone else from committing murder in Gaston County, don't you think?

Bobby Ray Black was convicted of second degree murder on Sept. 8, 1972. Superior Court Judge W.K. McLean sentenced him to "not more than seven years in prison." The case was appealed and the appeal court affirmed the conviction but said the sentence was improperly assessed.

Superior Court Judge Frank Snapp of Charlotte thereupon resented Black—to "two days to seven years." Snapp said he "didn't know what Judge McLean meant by his sentence"—and apparently he didn't ask him.

So, the upshot was a man convicted of voluntary manslaughter became eligible for parole before he started serving his sentence. He didn't go to jail until July 27; he became eligible for parole before he got there.

Interesting, too, are these facts:

1. It was 11 months from the time of the slaying to the day he went to jail.

2. The sheriff, among others, signed a petition to the parole board recommending the man for parole. The sheriff said he signed the petition "because the parole board is going to parole him anyway."

It is a waste of time and money to arrest killers and bring them to trial if the net result is this sort of thing. The Parole Board has sent out a notice reading: "All persons opposing parole in this case are requested to notify J. Mac Boley, chairman, Board of Paroles, Raleigh, N.C." It will be interesting to see if anyone in that community takes an interest in this most extraordinary example of legal process. Perhaps their local bar association will exert its leadership and take a position.

Let us pray.

Major oil companies report substantial profit increases. Folks, we just aren't driving slow enough.

(The Wall Street Journal)

A host of high-salaried people in Washington are worrying about how the Arab and other oil-rich nations are going to spend all those dollars they are going to accumulate in the years ahead by peddling oil. There are plans to tempt more of these petrodollars into the United States, and also plans to keep them from buying up too much of the United States.

We're not going to take sides in that debate, for the simple reason that we don't believe petrodollars will be "a problem" requiring an exotic "solution." In fact, with so many people running around scaring each other with statistics, our worry is the damage solutions could do.

As it has been identified, the problem is that in the years ahead Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and Qatar and perhaps some of the other oil producers will earn many more dollars than they'll be able to spend on internal development needs. In his last job for the White House before he became president of Lehman Brothers, former Commerce Secretary Peter G. Peterson took a trip around the world and reported to the President that by 1980 these surpluses would cumulatively total between $100 billion and $300 billion. Chase Manhattan Bank projects that by 1982 the cumulative total will be about $250 billion.

These numbers have produced two groups of worriers. On the one hand there are those who fear the petrodollars will come flooding into the United States to buy everything out. After all, $300 billion is six times the market value of all shares listed on the American Stock Exchange at the end of 1972, almost four times the 1972 value of all U.S. petroleum companies combined. In the National Journal's study of the "problem" Gov. Nelson Rockefeller asks, "Are they going to come over here and buy up all our corporations? They could buy The New York Times or The Los Angeles Times or CBS."

Rep. John Dent of Pennsylvania has introduced a bill that would limit foreign nationals or corporations to holdings of 35 per cent of nonvoting securities or 5 per cent of voting securities of any business.

On the other hand there are those who fear the petrodollars won't come flooding into the United States and the U.S. balance of payments will be wrecked. Mr. Peterson figured the U.S. import bill for oil in 1980 at $24.7 billion, the total free-world bill at $96.7 billion. To make sure the oil producers at least invest a pro-rata share here, these worriers suggest that Treasury issue some form of high-yielding issue, that the government encourage the oil producers into particular kinds of investments here, or that exchange-rate changes among the consuming nations somehow be accomplished without regard to anyone's oil-import bill.

We have some fears the oil producers may decide to limit production more severely than the industrial world could adjust to; certainly contingency planning should be (Continued On Page B5)

Imperfect Man

We have long been proud as a nation of a Constitution that not only declares each man to be equal, but promises to defend the citizen's right to such equality against any and all who might threaten it. The recent Watergate hearings, however, seem to suggest that, though the American citizen is granted the right to be equal, few seem to want it.

True equality, we must realize, requires the subordination of personal ambition and greed to communal responsibility, to a genuine and heartfelt concern for our fellow countrymen. Equality means the recognition that, though we may possess inequalities of material goods, intelligence, or even moral and ethical good sense, we are brothers in spirit, for the divine element in man is and always will be equal and undivided. If anything, the Watergate

Boodles To India From U.S. Tax Payer

By ERNEST CUNEO

WASHINGTON (NANA)—The U.S. Government will give to India a brand new $6 million building built for the Agency for International Development at New Delhi in return for exactly nothing.

It would be interesting indeed if that section of the federal statutes were set forth which purportedly gives any department the right to transfer American Property paid for by the American people to a foreign nation without express consent of Congress.

Unfortunately, this highly unusual occurrence is only another incident in the long and suspiciously clouded history of the stewardship of U.S. ambassadors posted to New Delhi by Washington. For the past 25 years, the U.S. ambassadors have comported themselves as if they represented India, not the United States. The latest is Daniel P. Moynihan, a political merry-andrew, who also managed to jump from the Kennedy to the Nixon bandwagon.

Like one of his predecessors, John Kenneth Galbraith,

Moynihan is a Harvard professor, more or less in the remittance-man refugee sense of the word, their Harvard posts being the spot, as at the stock exchanges, where they receive bids for their services.

Both, with ghastly effect, labor long and tortuously for a blithe and light style, marred only by the fact that they have been confirmed to perform duties of a heavy and solemn nature.

Among other things, for example, India is still holding 90,000 prisoners of war illegally. But Ambassador Moynihan's bitter shafts are reserved for his own country. He wrote of the new building being given free, gratis and for nothing, to the Indian government. "If we could turn it over to the Smithsonian, it would make a marvelous memorial to a certain kind of mentality, along with Camranh Bay in South Vietnam. But that really isn't practical, is it?"

For a U.S. ambassador, abroad and at post, to mock his country's war dead when he is virtually within sight of their 50,000 graves indicates a lack of sensitivity for any U.S. diplomatic post, let alone a sensitive one like New Delhi.

Nor is the gift of the aid building more than a drop in the bucket. Moynihan is out to get India's debt to the United States cut down to a fraction, a debt of over $3 billion, simply on the ground that India doesn't want to owe so much! This, in spite of the fact that the money was loaned to assuage a famine in India and cannot be taken out of India!

What is more, between India and Moynihan, they have all but pulled off the deal; a big reduction of India's debt is in the wind.

This is a major scandal, considering the state of the U.S. dollar. There are many ways of easing creditor's terms, among which are lower interest and lengthening of the time of the loan, or even assignment of the American rupees for dollars owed in Europe.

hearings have reaffirmed with stunning force the fact that the man who lacks self-knowledge will act imperfectly. Emerson's statement of a century ago has not lost its applicability today: "We sell the thrones of angels for a brief and turbulent pleasure." And although it is now quite obvious that our national leaders are imperfect, can we, as a people, divorce ourselves from imperfection? Are we not all a party to the weakness of greed and the outrage of immorality that has infected our society for so long? Who, indeed, is foolishly brave enough to cast the first stone?

In order for society to be reformed, each of us must first reform ourselves. There is no other way. Let us pray that those who lead this great nation of ours will initiate this inner reformation. With such examples, perhaps some confidence can be restored in our political system. And in ourselves.

New Order

New world order! That's what Henry Kissinger's father says Henry is going to bring about. Louis Kissinger, who lives in New York City, was quoted in the Boston Sunday Advertiser for May 14, 1972, as remarking: "Henry's ideas are to bring about a new world order of peace, ya, and I hope he will succeed."

Americans are often treated to lurid accounts of Dr. Kissinger's masculine virility, his partying proclivities, and his close association with world Communist leaders, but there it ends. According to the Herald of Freedom of October 1, 1971, which is an impeccable publication put out by Frank Capell, Henry Kissinger was born at Fuerth, Germany, in 1923. He has come a long, long way since his immigration to this country at the age of 15.

The Kissingers came to the United States as refugees from the Nazis. Young Henry became a U.S. citizen in 1943, through service in the Army. Funny, I, too, joined the Army in 1943, and it seems only yesterday. Amazing to contemplate — the success story of a refugee from Hitler who became a citizen "only yesterday," emerging as Top Dog in the White House, and now about to become secretary of state in addition thereto.

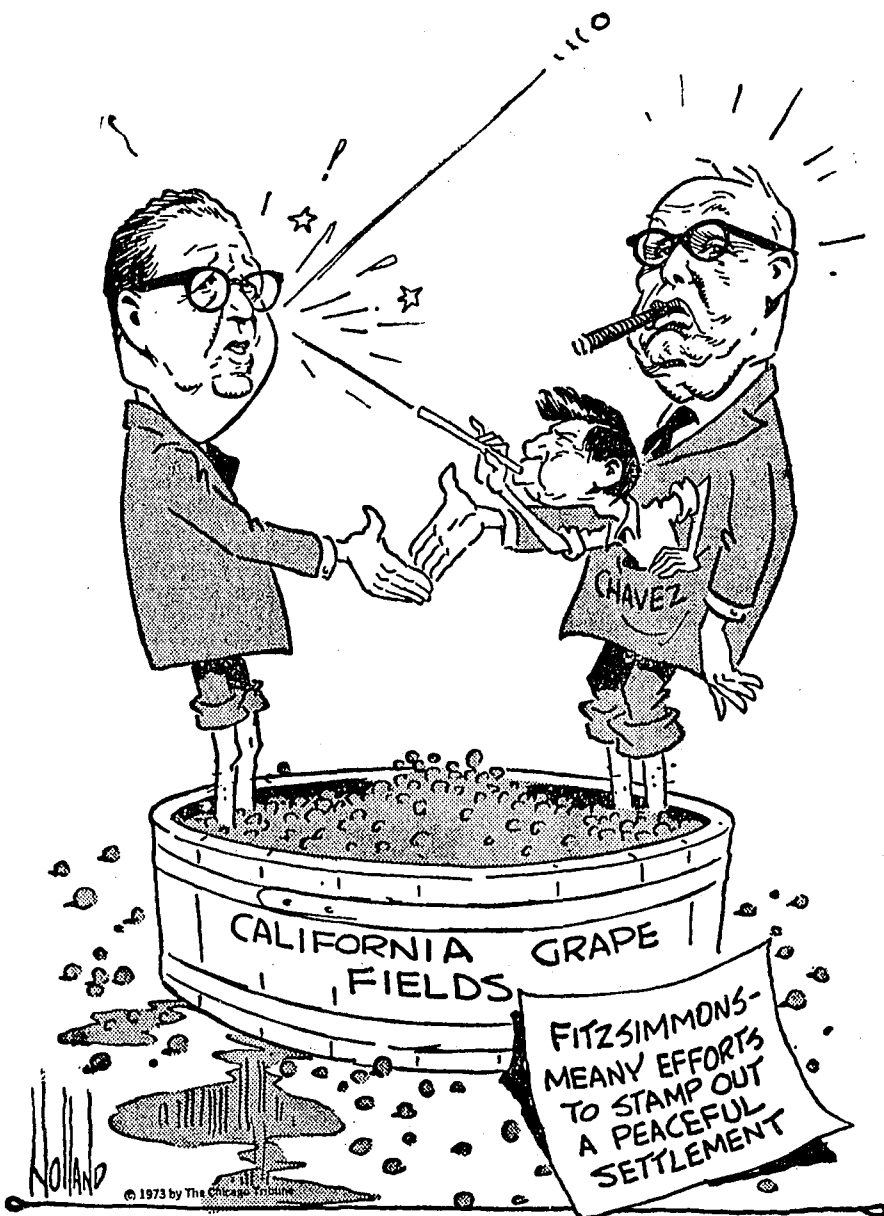

Though Henry Kissinger was only a sergeant in the Army, he was put in charge of administering a German town. From then on, for a slip of a lad whose English is still barely understandable, he sky-rocketed to positions of extreme importance and sensitivity.

The Kissingers would do well to think back to their native Germany from which they were forced to flee. They might remember another man who stood in the Reichstag on July 13, 1934, and declared: "I can create the New Order." That man's name, of course, was Hitler.

Kenya Meet May Alter Gold's Status

By MARGUERITE SULLIVAN

Copley News Service
WASHINGTON — Women wear it. Men fill their teeth with it.

Caveman found it as his first metal and then drank its particles to keep his youth.

Kings used it as an excuse to send explorers around the world. President use it today to send men to the moon.

It is gold. And it is still very much with us.

Gold was hammered into coin as the basis of the earliest money systems.

Today gold is melted into bricks as the cornerstone of world monetary order. In the opinion of some international money men, that is a blessing. For others, it is a curse.

In recent months, wild trading in Europe among individuals concerned about the declining value of their own strong U.S. dollars has sent the price of gold up to a high of $127 an ounce. That is about three times the official — or government recognized — price of gold.

This combination of economics and psychology has driven the dollar downward in international trading (although in recent days it has been making a stronger showing).

Kenya Meeting

Late September, the International Monetary Fund will hold its annual meeting in Kenya. A significant reform of the International Monetary System and gold's position in that meeting is expected to come out of that meeting.

Some people are starting to call the session Bretton Woods II.

In 1944, as World War II was drawing to a close, representatives of 44 nations met in Bretton Woods, N.H., to shape postwar money policy.

The meeting resulted in the formation of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), a sort of clearing house to provide international drawing rights to help member nations overcome temporary exchange deficits.

Each member's right to draw on the fund was determined by its quota or contribution to the fund. Normally each nation contributed a quarter of its quota in gold or U.S. dollars and the rest in its own currency.

The U.S. dollar, the strong currency after the war, became the major "drawing right" currency and was used in international transactions around the world.

Each IMF member gave its own currency a value in relation to the dollar's 1944 gold value. Government and private transactions had to hold to any established currency exchange rate of no more than 1 per cent above or below parity.

Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, in a 1949 letter to the IMF managing director, pledged the U.S. to maintain the international value of the dollar by buying and selling gold at the established price of $35 an ounce.

Other countries committed to maintain their currencies' external values by buying or selling dollars on international exchange markets. Essentially, then the value of the dollar was pegged to gold and other currencies were pegged to the dollar.

The system worked fine for a while, but by the 1960s, the outflow of dollars was in heavy imbalance with its inflow into America, with resulting major deficits in the U.S. balance of payments. Nations presented surplus dollars for redemption and the U.S. gold stock dwindled. In 1949, the American gold supply totalled $23.4 billion. By late 1971, it had dropped to $10.1 billion. Today it is at $11.65 billion.

1968 Gold Rush

Within the last five years, two moves altered the original Bretton Woods agreement.

In 1968, a rush of gold buying forced the seven major industrial nations to abandon efforts to maintain the market price of gold at $35.

A two-tier system was established. The U.S. agreed to continue to sell gold to other governments at $35, but the international private market price of gold was allowed to fluctuate freely.

But the U.S. balance of payments deficit grew from a yearly average of $1 billion (in 1960 to 1966) to an annual average of $2.6 billion for 1967-1970. This convinced many investors that the dollar was overvalued.

In August, 1971, the U.S. suspended its agreement to convert dollars into gold because there was not enough gold in Fort Knox or the New York Federal Reserve Bank to redeem the outstanding dollars in foreign hands.

Since then the dollar has been devalued twice in its relationship to gold and other currencies. Today the official price of gold is $42.22 an ounce.

And currencies have been allowed to "float"—which means no foreign countries are maintaining their former obligation to match their currency to the dollar at any given level.

Set on this intricate economic stage is the gold that trades daily on the private Switzerland and London gold markets, primarily in Switzerland and London. (Foreign governments allow their citizens to own gold; the U.S. government does not.)

Recent Slide

Gold, which was selling at $35 just five years ago, peaked at $127 on July 6. Now it is back around $100.

Because of what has been happening to gold and the dollar, the U.S., as it heads into the IMF meeting next month in Kenya, would like to see world currencies defined in value, not in terms of dollars pegged to gold.

Gold is just a commodity like any other, the U.S. argues.

With about $100 billion overseas, the U.S. is interested in:—Special drawing rights (SDRs) to replace the dollar and gold as the central monetary standard of a reformed international system. World currencies, then, would be defined in value of SDRs, which would be allotted to countries in proportion to their quotas in the IMF.

The advantage of SDRs, unlike gold, is their infinite elasticity. They can be created or reduced in accord with the changing demands of world trade—so the argument goes, although gold has demonstrated track record and unbacked SDRs do not.

Americans, unlike most of the world's citizens, have been barred from buying gold legally since 1934. That may all change soon. Date Discretionary If a compromise bill passes Congress next month, as expected, Americans will be able to buy, sell and hold gold at some future date.

That date depends on the discretion of the President. But most persons agree that the date will not be set until the United States balance of payments has been stabilized and the U.S. has a surplus.

Should the very recent swing from the "red" into the "black"—from the U.S. first to second quarter balance of payments—continue, that time may not be in the too distant future.

The Department of Commerce announced last week (8-15) that for the first time since 1969, foreign nations spent more money here than the U.S. spent abroad.

John Karlisch, an economist with the House-Senate Joint Economic Subcommittee on International Exchange and Payments, said there is a fear if Americans are given the privilege of owning gold too soon, it could adversely affect the balance of payments.

Kahn Comments

Is it more immorality, or is it less morality, that is the cause of our problems?

What we now need is a Food For Americans movement, to mobilize all our facilities and good common sense to insure that there will be enough food available to feed Americans, enough food so that food will be reasonably priced so that all Americans will be fed.

ment for using our money illegally to kill the unborn babies of your girls without their parents' consent! It's about time somebody did something besides just complain!

I, for one, am going to send her a dollar and I urge others to do so also, to help Mrs. Sullivan pay the attorney fees, etc. If Angela Davis can gather millions of dollars of support, surely we who love Truth and Justice here in Orange County can rally to Cathy's aid. She surely will not win any money in this case. If they win, the only thing this lady can gain, is to save some tiny innocent lives that have already begun and we humans have no right to end. "Thou shalt not kill."

And even God is no argument to convince you, because you don't know if He exists for sure, I understand because I was once like you. Then I appeal to your good judgment.

In my work, I have actually seen the tiny bodies of these innocent children torn apart by abortion with the grimace of excruciating pain forever frozen on their faces! Yes, I have seen it, and the horror of it I can never forget! But shielded from it—why? Because some are getting rich on baby murder. Oh, excuse me, Supreme Court, for calling it murder. You have rule it "legal and lawful to kill unborn children," therefore I must not call it that. Do you realize what that means? If the court rules it legal to kill an unborn baby, then it is no longer murder—murder being the unlawful taking of a human life.

So when the court rules it legal to take the life of an unborn old person, handicapped, etc. then we can no longer call that murder and we will have no more legal grounds to keep the state or government from taking that person's life. Sounds fantastic?

In all media, this year, we are being bombarded with pro euthanasia propaganda and it is already being done in many hospitals by doctors. I personally know of several cases where nurses have been ordered to extend no further care to an individual—to let him die. Shadows of Hitlerism.

Blows To Freedom

Three serious new blows to freedom have occurred just in the last week or so. At this rate we will be totally shackled before the end of the year.

The first of the three blows to freedom this week was the news that in two months we will no longer be allowed to buy vitamins A and D according to our wishes. These will be severely curtailed. It is advisable to stock up on these vitamins and refrigerate them. It is also advisable to write and ask Senators Cranston and Tunney to vote for the Hosmer bill (HR 643) when it comes before the Senate. This should put a damper on the FDA's anti-vitamin antics.

The second blow came when the IRS bored through the bank records of Karl Bray, Utah Libertarian Party officer and author of "Taxation and Tyranny." This book advises readers on tax resistance. The IRS now has a list of all those who paid for the book by check and apparently intends to harass these people. So as a result, it is actually safer to send cash through the mail than checks to any anti-establishment person or organization.

Third, it was recently announced that there is a new crackdown on servicemen. The men in uniform, who go to the four corners of the earth to fight and die for freedom, are no longer able to use one of the basic constitutional rights they are fighting for. They are not allowed to read any radical or anti-administration materials or to express any such opinions. I hope there is a vehement protest against this among servicemen as it is a blatant infringement on their rights.

We have got to be much louder and more outspoken in our dissension against the increasingly authoritarian State.

'Disgrace'

This Watergate is a disgrace. I mean the length of time it has been going on. Now the Nixon family has been threatened. If anything happens to any of them, I am certain it will be because of this news affecting some unstable minds, as violent movies have done and are doing.

The forces of evil are rampant. Jesus said, "When you see these things come to pass, look up, for your redemption draweth nigh." (Luke 21)

President Nixon has said to release the tapes would injure the Presidency. This should be sufficient.

Taxes Up

Congress is going to increase your taxes, which will be justified as a means of "dampening inflation." Rather than curtail the orgy of government spending, which has brought on inflation, political leaders expect to reduce the money supply by taking away our money.

Supposedly this tax increase will be to our benefit, but the unanswered question is, "Why will you be any better off losing your money to taxes than you would have been spending it on higher priced items?" At least when you spend the money, no matter how expensive the goods you buy, you still obtain something in return.

Complain now or be taxed later!

'Carnage'

May I make a humanitarian plea in the defense of our native doves? The bird hunting carnage in the United States is starting and millions of these beloved birds will be massacred and maimed. Never used for food, but for "kicks." The "kicks" are in seeing them fall in destroying that which is beautiful and lovely.

The doves' domestic desires are to be man's orchard and garden companions and the guardians of his pastures, fields and vineyards. They are seed eaters and eat up 10,000 noxious weed and grass seeds daily.

The dove has long been the emblem of peace, hope, purity, beauty, innocence, love and immortality. There should be state and federal laws to protect these gentle birds of living beauty.

Red China In New Push To Mold Children

By Ray Cromley

In China of late there's a new push on for the organization of Little Red Soldier groups, begun originally at the height of the Cultural Revolution, and now being revived.

Here, children, mainly 7 to 14, are organized on a military basis in regiments, battalions, companies, platoons and squads. Membership extends down to 5-year-olds. Preference seems to be given to worker-peasant families.

Example: A Sian radio report discloses 50,000 children in the province became Little Red Soldiers in the first five months of 1973.

Example: In Nanning, a Little Red Soldier organization has been set up in every one of the 176 primary schools.

The Little Red Soldier groups hold criticism meetings and run exhibitions. They are regularly given education in ideology and the "correct" political line. They attack the "ultra-rightist" approach of the "counterrevolutionary revisionists."

They give marionette shows depicting "heroic images of new socialist Chinese children's ardent love for Chairman Mao and the party." They run primitive weather stations and make forecasts, publicize party health programs and perform "social community labor."

A Hong Kong China watcher comments that the aim apparently is to create a generation of highly-organized and disciplined children "whose regimentation on under the authorities matches that of their elders in many respects."

As part of the program, kindergarten children are being groomed intensively "to meet their responsibilities." In nurseries, children have been organized to study Chairman Mao's quotations, to hear revolutionary stories, to receive class education, to study revolutionary traditions and do a little public service labor.

The publishing business is also mobilized. In Kwangtung Province, the People's Publishing House this past year turned out 26 million copies of 92 children's readers, including color cartoons which provide class education and relate the deeds of Chinese children in the war against Japan and in Mao's takeover of China, stories of Vietnamese children in the "struggle against the United States" and of Palestinian children in their fight against the Israelis.

The State Council Cultural Group on June 1 put out a special publication on literature and art for juveniles and children with songs and stage acts "reflecting the ardent love of young people for Chairman Mao, the Chinese Communist party and the motherland...for labor and collectives...and their ideal for becoming workers, peasants and soldiers when they grow up."

A People's Daily (newspaper) commentary dated June 3 stresses that socialist literature and art for juveniles and children "constitutes a battlefield of the class struggle in the ideological sphere which brooks no neglect."

The most chilling experience in this writer's eight months in the Communist areas of China almost three decades ago was seeing firsthand the rigid propagandizing of children (and adults, too) in everyday life through books, plays, dances and songs. The propaganda was thick and pervasive — everywhere. It seemed impossible to escape.

And one wondered what must happen to minds growing up with nothing else to see or hear.

H. L. HUNT WRITES

RED MIRV

A news conference announcement by Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger that the Soviet Union now has the capability to produce multiple intercontinental reentry vehicles should put our leaders and citizens on guard to the fact that we face a dire new threat. If U.S. intelligence is correct, it means that Russian nuclear-tipped rockets could be fired at us and separate hydrogen warheads break off to deceive our interception weapons and rain death and destruction on separate targets. It is not a pleasant thought.

Nor is it pleasant to read the latest edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, the unofficial but authoritative British manual on the naval strengths of the nations of the world. Jane's says that the USSR has outstripped the U.S. in naval fighting strength, especially nuclear submarines. Unless we overcome our disadvantages in several fields, this Republic could be subject to nuclear blackmail.

The lesson of recent history should be all too obvious. Great Britain was plagued with apathy in the years between the two world wars, which almost proved fatal as Hitler launched his aggressions in 1939. The United States had also dropped its guard in the field of defense between wars. One massive strike at Pearl Harbor almost cost us our national life.

In these days of hydrogen bombs, the price of lethargy and apathy would be even worse. There is one thing that we as citizens can do about the situation. We can let our leaders know that we want a defense that is second to none.

(Continued From Page B4) underway in this area. But we don't worry much about what they'll do with those petrodollars once they've sold us the petro. As they have been, they will solicit the best private investment analysis money can buy and pick up the most attractive investment opportunities they can find around the world. Of course, they will be bidding against all those who see the same opportunities.

If the inconceivable happens, and they decide to buy up the Amex - bidding it up to dizzy heights in the process, when the smoke clears Americans would have that fortune in capital to sink into more interesting investments here and abroad. And our worry that the producers might limit production would evaporate; they would not cut off the oil to an economy they have that kind of stake in. If the opposite happens, and all those petrodollars go into Ruritania instead of the U.S., they will simply push back home that U.S. and foreign capital that would have gone into the Ruritania opportunity.

It's of course advisable that the U.S. maintain a healthy investment climate here, but that would be true regardless of whether we need foreign investment to help pay the oil import bill. Paying that bill will also require foreign-exchange earnings, an enterprise in which the ever-increasing proceeds from U.S. overseas investment and a steadily climbing worldwide demand for U.S. agriculture will be of great help. The government can do its part by letting our exporters export, and keeping in check the protectionism that might strangle world trade.

Beyond that, we don't see much to be gained by Washington ever does decide ington tinkering, assuming whether it wants to pull in petrodollars or keep them out. Constantly changing rules, it occurs to us, might precipitate the real problem, which would arise if Arabs decide to leave the oil in the ground until better opportunities arrive. The best plan is to take the oil and let the producing nations do what they want with their cash.

MORMON CHOIR URGED WIDEN REPERTOIRE

LONDON (UPI)—The Mormon Tabernacle Choir, which sang last week at the Royal Albert Hall, should attempt more difficult pieces, critic Max Harrison of the Times of London said in a review published Friday.

Harrison wrote: "The Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir is a very large group by present-day standards—375 singers. Certainly it is a much bigger ensemble of voices than we now like to hear singing Handel or Bach, short extract from whose works were included in their concert last night."

"Yet the precision the choir attains under its conductor, Richard P. Condie, is remarkable, and silences at least some adverse comments, particularly as it is an amateur body."

"Each section is extremely well balanced within itself and produces an unusually full and even tone throughout its register. That, of course, is the basis of its very clear textures, and although the result may be unduly bland for some tastes, effects of delicacy are brought off as surely as those of weight and emphasis."

"The whole is, indeed, something of a monument to modern techniques of choral training, though much no doubt is owed also to the fact that the choir has a tradition of 126 years of continuous existence behind it."

"The use to which this fine instrument is put is another matter. Although the programme listed one or two unexpected items such as Norman Delo Jolo's 'Jubilant Song' and Holst's Psalm 148, and although composers like Schubert and Elgar were represented, we were offered little beyond short bits and pieces."

"No doubt its repertoire gives much simple pleasure, but so accomplished a body of singers is worthy of more demanding fare."

JANET LYNN — "America's Sweetheart" makes her professional debut with the 1974 edition of Ice Follies at The Forum opening Wednesday, through Sept. 16.

Ailing Watts Cancels Bowl Appearance

LOS ANGELES — Andre Watts, scheduled to play the Brahms Second Concerto with the Los Angeles Philharmonic at Hollywood Bowl on Sept. 6, has had to cancel all appearances for two weeks because of illness.

Replacing him will be Misha Dichter, who, in coming to Los Angeles, will be interrupting a brief performing hiatus occasioned by the birth of his second child.

Dichter will play the programmed Brahms concerto under Lawrence Foster, with whom he performed the Rachmaninoff-Paganini Rhapsody at the Bowl only two weeks ago.

Featured on the program will be one other work—Prokofiev's Symphony No. 5.

Scruggs Revue Opens Tonight

LOS ANGELES—The Earl Scruggs Revue, a sextet of young musicians led by the banjo virtuoso, Earl Scruggs, will open a week's engagement at Doug Weston's Troubadour tonight.

Scruggs, for many years partnered with guitarist Lester Flatt in one of the most popular bluegrass duos in show business, has recently gone out on his own to tour and record with his present group.

Scruggs and his former partner are credited with preventing American folk music from getting lost in the musical shuffle.

Featured in the new Scruggs group are his two sons, Randy and Gary.

Pianist Prefers Concerts To Clubs

NEW YORK (NANA)—Peter Nero remembers it well: the 37 stops that changed his life. "I was what you might call a semiprodigy," said the pianist-composer. "At four, I showed interest in music. I would fall asleep singing tunes to myself. My parents bought me a toy xylophone and I'd pick out tunes. Neither can play a note. They didn't know what to do with me. They were feeling their way."

"We were too poor to have a piano, but my cousins had one, and I went there and picked out tunes. Then they gave me the piano, a beat-up upright."

"Eventually, my father, who believes in always paying cash, borrowed the money to buy me a rebuilt Steinway, which I still have. It took up half the living room. My mother made me practice. I played Haydn at the Brooklyn Academy of Music when I was around 11."

Upward Push

Manhattan's High School of Music and Art gave him the upward push he needed.

"It's a fantastic school. I had to leave our house in Brooklyn at seven in the morning. There were 37 subway stops going and 37 coming. That's more than 40,000 stops in four years and every one of them was worth it."

"I'd go home, do two hours of homework and three hours practicing. I took a job as an accompanist for singing and dancing classes, and earned $24 a week to pay for my piano lessons. I went to Juilliard when I was 14 or 15. That was 30 stops."

A second generation is coming up music—his and Marcia Nero's children, Beverly, 15, and Jedd, 12.

"They're both into music, I'm afraid. My daughter is an excellent pianist—she's studying with Constance Keene, my teacher—and she plays electric bass. Jedd plays drums and guitar. Both sing very well. I've had them sit in with me on concerts around Long Island, not to show them off but I think they're good. We live at Great Neck."

"My mother's parents are Spanish and they live in Brooklyn, so my children have great-grandparents. My mother teaches Spanish at James Madison High School in Brooklyn. My father is executive director of a temple in Brooklyn, after years as deputy commissioner of the New York City Youth Board."

Since 1960, Nero has been a best-selling recording artist. His "Summer of '42" album sold over a million records. Other big sellers are "Theme From Love Story," "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and the love theme from "The Godfather."

Lots Of Traveling He travels with his trio six or eight months of the year, performs 100 concerts, plays four weeks of clubs. Recently, he spent three weeks at the St. Regis Maisonette here.

"I prefer concerts to clubs. How can you listen when you've got booze being pushed at you and there's a $15 steak in front of you? There's nothing like a concert, with thousands listening and cheering when I walk in. I can pack in 3,000 or 5,000 in one night in a concert."

"I've been conducting a lot of symphonies (the Boston Pops, the Royal Philharmonic in London, Rotterdam, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Oklahoma City, others). I program it and play some of my own stuff. We do a lot of colleges. The kids are marvelous, open to anything. Four years ago, they were only attuned to rock."

"For lack of a better term, what I do is called 'Pop,' but it contains elements of classical and jazz. About half the notes I play in a Gershwin medley are improvised. That's the thing that saves my sanity. I've run into some of the hippest audiences in some of the weirdest places. In Lagrange, La., a small town, they laughed at the right places and were very hip to the classical things I threw in."

Royal Look

His wiry black hair is touched by gray. His handsome face and chin-beard give him the look of Graustarkian royalty.

"I don't care for esoteric jazz. I pride myself that my stuff is loaded with things that people can get. I can play for hours. I learned to use my body weight properly. When I hit the keys hard, I'm using my natural body weight."

"Most classical pianists use that physical approach. Arthur Schnitke is the best example. He's 88 and he's got stamina. When he plays a loud chord, his rear end will come up off the bench. That's not showmanship, he's transferring the weight of his body."

"I've been home most of the summer practicing and writing."

In July, I performed a new work with the Detroit Symphony. "His World" and "Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl" are probably my most ambitious pieces.

Laughmaker Wins Own Video Series

By JOSEPH THESKEN
 Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD—Dom DeLuise is an experienced journeyman in the field of comedy. He has plied his craft of making people laugh in nightclubs, on stage and on television.

After seven years of guesting on the Dean Martin Show, he is being rewarded with his own show this fall on NBC-TV. It appears to be tailored to his comedy talents.

Dom will star in "Lotsa Luck," a comedy series adapted from a British TV hit, "On the Buses." He will play Stanley Belmont, a bachelor in his 30s who works as a clerk in a lost and found department of a New York City bus line.

British comedy goes over well with American audiences, judging from the success of "All in the Family" and "Sanford and Son." This pattern of success is a source of encouragement to DeLuise.

He isn't so sure he likes the title given the series: "Lotsa Luck" means you may not make it. That's kind of spooky.

Dom said some of the scenes will deal with his work, but most will be concentrated on his home life.

"I have a girl friend, Teresa, but we don't see her," he added. "In fact, we may never see her. At one point my mother says, 'Teresa's a tramp,' and I answer, 'Just because she was mugged twice.'"

Kathleen Freeman, no novice in the comedy field herself, will trade barbs with DeLuise in her role as his mother. In supporting roles are Jack Knight as his friend, Bummy; Beverly Saunders as his married sister, Olive, and Wynn Irwin as her jobless husband, Arthur.

Stanley is the sole wage-earner in the household, supporting his mother, sister and brother-in-law.

"He is trapped, because he is the breadwinner, but he faces up to his responsibilities," DeLuise says of the character he portrays.

When DeLuise was interviewed, the filming of "Lotsa Luck" hadn't started, so he was at a loss to explain some of the episodes for the fall.

"I do know there's one plot where I find some money in a purse that was left on the bus," he related. "Stanley takes the money out and bets it on the races. And he wins."

"But then he doesn't remember which purse he took it from. So he puts money back in all the purses in the lost-and-found. He winds up losing $50 instead of being ahead."

As a comedian who has been developing his art for a lifetime, he has his own rating system regarding the tops in his field.

"Mel Brooks is the funniest man I've ever known," he said. "He has it all. My wife and I were in a picture he was directing, 'Black Bart,' and I can tell you it's mad."

"And I'll always remember Sid Caesar's 'Show of Shows' on TV. I watched him like a hawk. I read and digested the material Sid used on those shows."

In the area of all-time comedians, DeLuise goes with W.C. Fields: "He was really great. And he had some material that was really daring."

DeLuise, who said he's often confused with James Coco, another rotund comic, has a continual battle with his weight.

"I'm always dieting," he sighed. "Right now I guess I'm around 200 or so. What is frustrating is that my wife, Carol, can sit down and eat five desserts in a row and still doesn't get fat."

His mother is a great Italian cook, which doesn't help Dom's weight control.

"When she comes for a visit, she has six suitcases," he notes. "I ask her where do they go. She says, 'All but the blue one goes in the kitchen.' The other five have her spices, her salamis, her special ingredients for meals."

Dom established himself many years back when he was on the Garry Moore Show. He introduced the character Dominiak the Great, a bumbling magician. This proved to be a springboard for other offers.

Condominiums

Condominiums are getting more popular as the years go by. A condominium is a unit of an apartment complex, owned by an individual in much the same way as if it were a single-family home. He holds direct legal title to the unit and a proportionate interest in the common areas and the underlying ground.

Bushmen of Africa's Kalahari Desert never fight each other. Outsiders, who do, are considered as short-tempered and unpredictable as the lions. The Bushman word "goma," meaning "animal without hoofs," is used for non-Bushman as well as lions.

Write Of Way

From Eva Lauck, 17698 Walnut St., Fountain Valley:

"Wednesday will be 'Blue Angels Night' at Anaheim Stadium.

"The Angels will be playing Oakland and we will be putting on a pre-game exhibition with all the Blue Angels, including Mary Decker who has recently won in Canada, Italy, Russia and Africa in the 880.

"Mary is the one who is most well known of the Blue Angels because she is old enough now to compete in national and international meets as a woman, but there are other Blue Angels with her kind of talent who are too young to run in anything except AAU age group meets.

"The program has developed district, state and national champions, world record holders and super-fit kids of all ages who will be bringing honor to the USA for many years to come. All these children, from ages 6 to 16, will be at 'Blue Angel Night' at 7:30.

"The Blue Angels get $1 out of each $3.50 or $4 ticket sold. This is very important to us as we have the Cross-Country Nationals in November, held in Albuquerque this year, so we will have to go early in order to get used to the altitude. Our funds are usually raised by the kids selling raffle tickets, decals, bumper stickers, etc., but this is not enough to get the team to Albuquerque.

"It's a sad commentary on our country that Mary Decker should come home from being the darling of three continents, winning gold medals for the USA team all over the world, then have to stand in a shopping center and try to get people to buy a bumper sticker. I'm sure the athletes from the other countries don't have to do this. We really need to get people interested in supporting our amateur athletic teams. If companies would only buy blocks of tickets from us, making the check out to the Blue Angels, then they could pass them out to their customers and employees and have a tax deduction."

From George Hart, 1305 E. Palm Ave., Orange:

"In view of recent public discussion comparing men's and women's tennis, perhaps Billie Jean King should be warned of a disease that has become current in tennis circles.

"This is known as Riggs' Disease, which, according to Webster's dictionary, is a disease of the mouth (pyorrhea).

"However, Billie Jean probably will be safe. She is not likely to be kissing anyone who is spreading the disease."

From Andre R. Provost, 2230 S. Sandalwood, Anaheim:

"I can't believe it! I have just heard that there is serious consideration to ban the back somersault from competition in the women's uneven parallel bars. I understand that the committee feels that this particular move is too dangerous.

"Obviously, Miss Olga Korbut, or for that matter the team coach, must not seem to think so. Let's face it; innovation is the name of the game in any sport, and it is exercises such as the one that Olga Korbut displays which makes a great performance or just a standard repertoire.

"Women's gymnastics have come a long way in recent years because of the flair and precision that has been so beautifully demonstrated at the recent Munich Olympics, and more lately at the University games in Moscow.

"What will happen to the sport if the daring maneuvers that many of us have enjoyed watching, are suddenly erased from our view? I feel that many will divorce themselves from attending gymnastic events in this country. What a shame, when this fantastic spectator sport was just beginning to dawn in the United States."

From Mrs. Logan Schirmer, 42310 B St., Murietta, Cal.

"I am a friend of Mr. C. T. Childress, trainer of Lanty's Jet, winner of the Los Alamitos Kindergarten, the Golden State Futurity, and other races earning $135,630. I found it very hard to believe that your news articles did not give Mr. Childress any recognition for the fine job of conditioning Jay Parson's great filly, Lanty's Jet.

"An exceptional horse and an exceptional person (such as Mr. Childress) don't meet just every day and when they do I for one sure like to see that person get a pat on the back. Thank you for reading my opinion and thank you for your coverage of Los Alamitos and the quarter horse races."

From Max Burleson, 1312 Gladys Ave., Huntington Beach:

"I for one, am sick of the way you seem to be trying to make winners out of losers, namely the California Angels. I also would like to say the press on Carlton Fisk of the Red Sox is unfounded, uncalled for, unprofessional and typical of The Register's sports staff.

"You seem to encourage an all-out rhubarb. Maybe the Angels excel at that because they sure play lousy baseball. I guess you realize that Carlton Fisk is worth any nine Angels you name, and therefore he is the target. You know, I take great satisfaction from the fact that Gallagher hurt his shoulder on the play in Boston, that he tried to disable Fisk. Fisk held on to the ball too, if you remember.

"It's too bad that also, here in Orange County, you have a market for the garbage you print. Maybe Frank Robinson should carry his pistol up to the plate with him to ensure his free pass to first base. Great bunch of guys those Angels. Sorry to see you and the Angels both turn out to be losers."

From Arthur Goodman, 12409 Ranchero Way, Garden Grove:

"The Placentia Chargers would like to thank you and your fine newspaper for the publicity you gave us this year by informing the public of our game time and results. Your newspaper has made our season a very successful one, so again I would like to thank your newspaper for a great year."

From Jackie Hyman, Newport Beach:

"Kyle Gaylor of Costa Mesa has been chosen SCAT-of-the-Year by the Southern California Acro Team. Kyle is recognized as one of the world's top gymnasts on the balance beam.

"Linda Simpson of Los Alamitos was chosen Most Improved SCAT, and Martha Stegen of Seal Beach was named Parent of the Year for her work on behalf of the SCATS.

"The SCAT team, which trained Olympic star Kathy Rigby Mason, is scheduled for an all-star Carousel performance at the Anaheim Convention Center on Nov. 17."

DID HE, OR DIDN'T HE? — Plate umpire Frank Umont had a perfect spot (left) to call this play as Sandy Alomar slid past catcher Gene Tenace and was called safe at the plate. The bang-bang action took place about four feet from home plate but Umont said Alomar slid around the tag and scored. Tenace and the Athletics disagreed, quite heatedly.

Ryan Whiffs 12 A's, Wins 3-1

By JOHN STELLMAN

Move over Disneyland, make room for Nolan Ryan.

Orange County's newest attraction drew 14,182 to Anaheim Stadium Monday night.

Nolan struck out 12 in three-hitting the defending world champion Athletics, 3-1.

He already has set a record for standing ovations.

Nolan received two more on a night that saw him increase his

ANGEL BAROMETER

1972 (63 Dates)	642,858
Increase	267,377

strikeout total to 326, fifth best in history.

"The fans have been very good," Ryan praised. "They're enthusiastic, and seem to be more vocal this year. It's really rewarding knowing they're coming out to see you."

It is also very rewarding to the Angels, who may have the till sweetened by as much as $200,000.

With at least three more starts at the Big A, Ryan figures to make 20 appearances at the Big A.

His rise in popularity has been as quick as his fast ball.

At 26, Nolan may become a legend.

"Bob Feller was a living legend when I was growing up," smiled Ryan, who reduced the number of strikeouts needed to break Koufax's record to 56.

"When I was in high school, they talked about Sandy," smiled Nollie, who erased Rube Waddell's name from the record book.

Ryan increased his two-year strikeout total of 655, five more than the American League mark Waddell established way back in 1903-04.

"The main reason for the strikeouts is my curve. I'm able to throw it for a strike when I'm behind," Ryan explained.

Ryan fanned 10 in the first five innings, including the side

Reggie Jackson lined a clean single to center with two outs in the sixth, it was Oakland's first hit.

The Angels' first hit was Bob Oliver's leadoff double in the second. One out later, Lee Stanton doubled Ollie home.

A single by Ken Berry, who disappeared over the center-field fence attempting to catch Pat Bourque's home run in the ninth inning, led to two more runs in the seventh.

Following a perfect Jeff Torborg sacrifice, Sandy Alomar doubled Berry home, and after a wild pitch, scored himself on Vada Pinson's shallow fly to left.

The A's, led by Gene Tenace, protested vigorously. The Oakland catcher jumped up and down after Frank Umont signaled safe, following what Tenace thought was a clean tag.

Sal Bando protested the 6 o'clock start.

"The guy who scheduled this one should come out here and hit against him," fumed Bando.

"Things seem to be going my way," countered Ryan, who delivered a season low 128 pitches, 77 of which were strikes.

He has also accepted the pressure which he realizes will put him under great strain each time he walks to the mound.

"I'm feeling the pressure (of Koufax's record) a little bit more," Nollie admitted. "The worse thing is in the late innings I find my arm stiff. It takes a lot more effort."

Still, he met the challenge with a nearly effortless three hitter.

"I think it (the pressure) showed on the home run," Ryan said. "I threw the ball where I wanted it, but I didn't have the velocity."

Still, it didn't prevent Ryan from finishing his 21st game of the year, another Angel record.

"I'll have to pitch strongly to finish over .500," Nolan said of his 16-16 record.

A strong finish might also earn him the Cy Young award.

If he breaks Koufax's record and wins 20 games in addition to pitching two no-hitters, he would deserve consideration.

"That's about the only way I'd have a shot at it," Nollie grinned, "and it would be a very distant shot."

How far it is from the Big A to Disneyland?

HALOS-Ken Holtzman, a 15-game winner last year, bids for his 20th and Bill Singer (17-11) tonight. Manager Dick Williams has flipped Campy Canham and Bill North in his lineup in order to take advantage of North's superior speed, while at the same time giving Campy better pitches to hit.

Wouldn't it be ironic if Detroit hired Bill Givney to succeed Billy Martin, who fired the first of the farm hands to join the Angels, might require an operation on his left ankle this winter. Kussner was involved in a collision at first base and suffered bone chips and sprains.

Frank Tananan, Andy Hassler, Mickey Rivers, Dave Chalk and Charlie Scales are expected tonight.

When he fanned Dick Green in the fifth, it marked the 10th Ryan has struck out 10 or more batters in a game this season.

Sandy Koufax, Ryan had turned in consecutive hitless innings before Jackson's two-out single in the sixth. Nollie also had his streak of 17 2-3 scoreless innings snapped.

Aaron Slugs 2, Six From Ruth

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Hank

Aaron hit the 707th and 708th homers of his career to move within six of Babe Ruth's all-time record and pace the middle of the track to take second place. Pre-race favorite and top qualifier Coca's Kid finished third in the quarter-house spectacular which carried a total purse of $1,030,000.

Timeto Thinkrich, owned by the Vessels Stallion Farm in Los Alamitos, Calif., captured the first place purse of $330,000 in winning his fourth victory in 13 career starts.

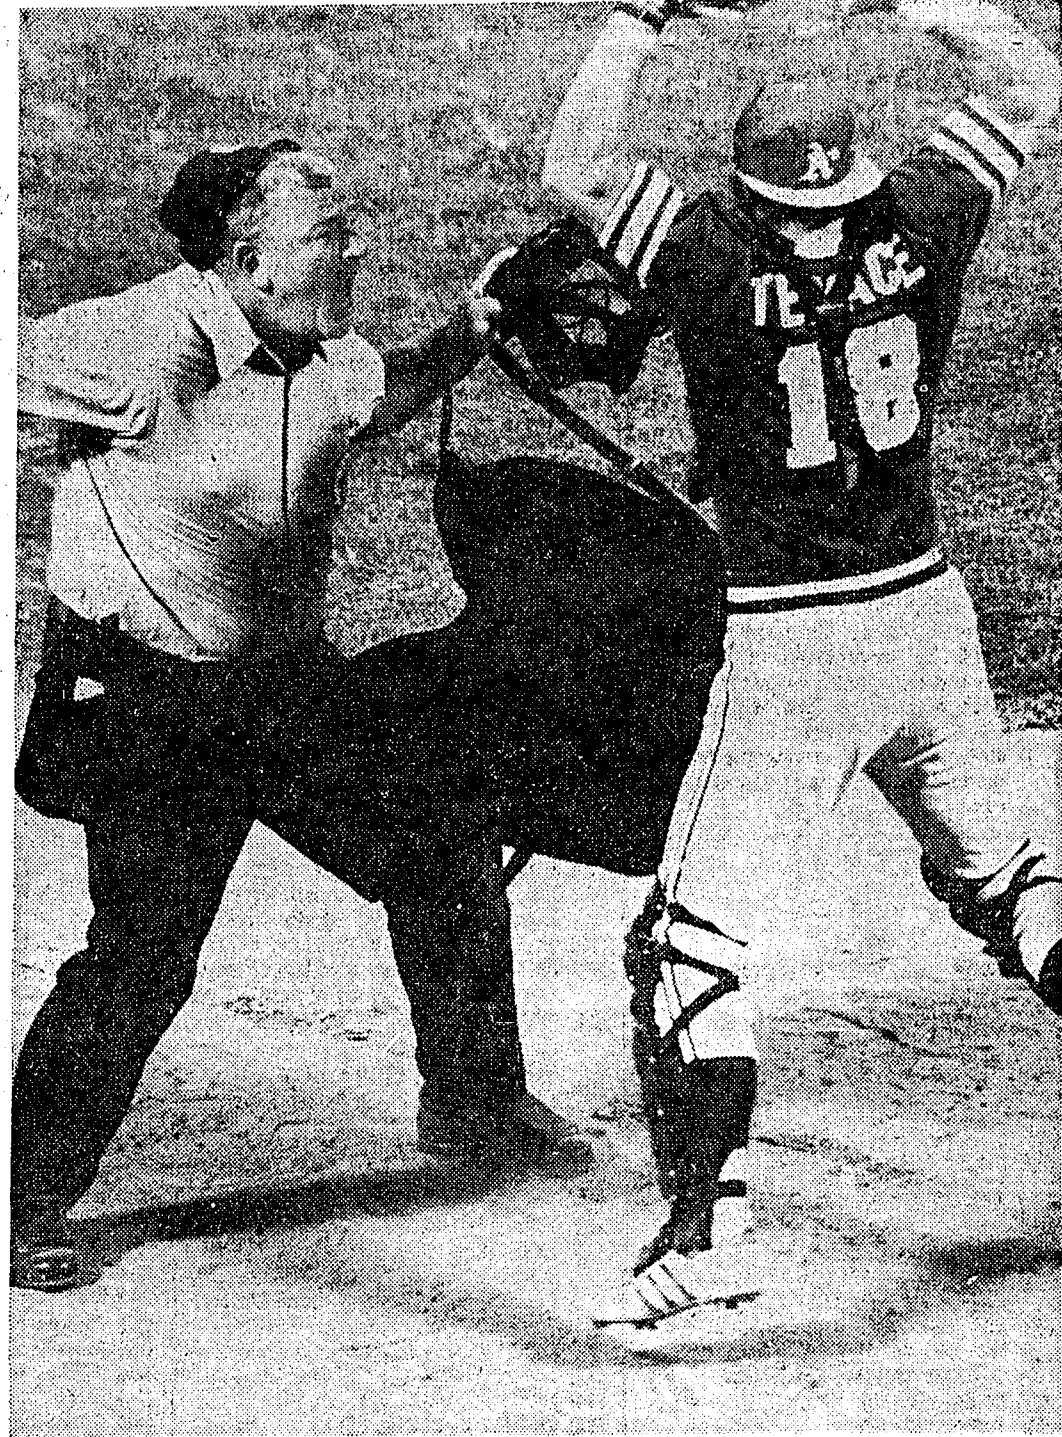

The second place finish for Flaming Jet was worth $138,000 for owner Joe Kirk Fulton of Lubbock, Tex. Coca's Kid, the betting favorite after posting the top qualifying mark in the trials a week ago, collected $64,000 for the third place finish.

It was the Vessels Farm's most successful day in its history as its second entry in the rich race, Go Farthefaster, closed strongly and finished fourth for another $45,000.

The well-matched field broke cleanly with Azure Teen going to the front early, and Coca's Kid, Timeto Thinkrich and Mr. Hay Bug in close pursuit.

At the halfway mark, Timeto Thinkrich found his best strides and began to pull away. He had a comfortable length margin at

THE BATTLE RAGES — Both umpire Umont and catcher Tenace showed emotions of their disagreement after the umpire called Alomar safe at the plate. Tenace, arms raised in anguish, was met by an equally strong verbal barrage from the umpire as they argued the point of who was right after the dust had settled. Naturally, umpire Umont was right, and the Angels went on to back Nolan Ryan's great pitching for a 3-1 victory. The A's still kept a 3 1/2-game lead over Kansas City in the tightening American League West race, however.

Bonds 'Slam' Drops Dodgers Into Tie Reds Slip Into West Co-Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —

Bobby Bonds hit a grand slam home run in the bottom of the ninth, inning Monday night to lift the San Francisco Giants, once behind by seven runs, to a nationally televised 11-8 victory over Los Angeles, knocking the Dodgers out of sole possession of first place in the National League West.

The Giants, trailing 8-1, rallied for six runs on seven hits in the seventh to trail by only a run. Then they got a chance in the ninth thanks to loose play by the Los Angeles infield.

Gary Thomasson opened the inning with a walk and Dave Rader bunted toward the mound. Pitcher Pete Richert threw to second too late and both runners were safe. Mike Sadek also bunted, this time toward third, and Ken McMullen threw too late trying to head off Rader at second.

That filled the bases with none out and Jim Brewer, Los Angeles' top reliever, came on to face Bonds. Bonds worked the count to 1-1 and then hit his 36th homer far over the left centerfield fence for the victory that put the Giants back in the NL West race.

It was their fourth victory in a row and left them five games behind the Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds, now in a tie for first, with matching 83-55 records.

Don McMahon, the last of five Giant pitchers, gained credit for his second victory in as many decisions on two scoreless relief innings. Richert wound up with the loss and is now 3-2.

The Dodgers built up their early lead on the hitting of Willie Crawford and Bill Buckner. Crawford drove in four runs with a homer and triple and Buckner had three RBIs with a homer and two singles.

Timeto Thinkrich Wins $1 Million Futurity

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M.

(UPI) — Timeto Thinkrich streaked down the inside rail with commanding speed Monday at Ruidoso Downs to capture the 15th running of the $1 million All-American Futurity, the world's richest horse race.

The California speedster, known for his consistency but never the winner of a major race, scored an impressive one-length victory in covering the 440-yard distance in 21.58 seconds.

Flaming Jet, a Jet Deck-sired colt, closed belatedly in the middle of the track to take second place. Pre-race favorite and top qualifier Coca's Kid finished third in the quarter-house spectacular which carried a total purse of $1,030,000.

Timeto Thinkrich, owned by the Vessels Stallion Farm in Los Alamitos, Calif., captured the first place purse of $330,000 in winning his fourth victory in 13 career starts.

The second place finish for Flaming Jet was worth $138,000 for owner Joe Kirk Fulton of Lubbock, Tex. Coca's Kid, the betting favorite after posting the top qualifying mark in the trials a week ago, collected $64,000 for the third place finish.

It was the Vessels Farm's most successful day in its history as its second entry in the rich race, Go Farthefaster, closed strongly and finished fourth for another $45,000.

The well-matched field broke cleanly with Azure Teen going to the front early, and Coca's Kid, Timeto Thinkrich and Mr. Hay Bug in close pursuit.

At the halfway mark, Timeto Thinkrich found his best strides and began to pull away. He had a comfortable length margin at the wire over Flaming Jet.

"We got bumped a little at the halfway mark by another horse," said jockey John Watson, "but by that time I knew we had it won. I think maybe the bump gave my horse an extra push in the right direction."

The 28-year-old Watson scored the victory in only his second appearance at the Ruidoso Downs track. His first ride here came last week when Timeto Thinkrich posted the sixth-fastest qualifying time in the trials in running.

The Vessels family, the builders of Los Alamitos Race Track, said they were "simply thrilled" by the victory.

"I think we've just seen the Secretariat of quarterhorse racing," said Vessels.

Going off as a 9-2 choice, Timeto Thinkrich returned $11, $4.80 and $3.40. Flaming Jet returned $6.20 and $3.60 while Coca's Kid returned $3.60.

Timeto Thinkrich, considered second best to stablemate Go Farthefaster by Vessels, now shows nine finishes in the money in 13 career starts.

Sawdust Shupp Designs Saint Success

BY CARL SAWYER
If enthusiasm could score points in water polo and swimming, Santa Ana High School's aquatic teams would already be on the scoreboard now that Bob Shupp has the coaching reins. September always has and always will be football season at Saintville, but Shupp and numerous others are thinking and talking water polo. The 24-year-old new member of the Santa Ana High coaching staff figures he wasn't hired to tread water and he isn't.

Assistant coach at Fullerton State University for the past two years, Shupp has all of the credentials necessary to get the Saints moving in the "wet set" of Orange County prep ranks. All he needs is some water polo candidates and he's ready to go.

Shupp succeeds Mike Connell as the headman in Saint aquatics. Connell was at Santa Ana High one year and has switched to Villa Park High in Orange.

Shupp is excited about Santa Ana's new swimming pool and his chances to get its aquatics program upgraded rapidly.

"I'm really intrigued with the facility. There probably isn't a better facility around. Maybe Newport Harbor's new Olympic-sized pool is better, but what is so nice about this is that we have an all-deep water polo course and it's large enough to have a lot of things going on at one time."

"This can be a most exciting job. The overall athletic program at Santa Ana High is superior to most and this should have some carry-over value into the water sports," he said.

Aquatics At Low Tide

Saint aquatics have been at low tide for sometime, so Shupp knows he's stepping into deep water at the start.

Success at the start is nothing new for Shupp. And head Titan coach Ken Lindgren coached Fullerton State to the NCAA finals in their first year where the Titans finished third.

"I figure to end up with a championship water polo team at Santa Ana. We will take a minimum of four years. Newport Harbor is a perennial CIF contender, so to be able to play with them on an even basis, it will take four years of instruction."

Moore Knows Don Campus

SAWDUST—Wayne Moore, a freshman candidate at tight end at Santa Ana College, talked to a lot of recruiters after being named to the All-Orange County team while starting at Santa Ana Valley High. He even had dinner with John McKay, coach of USC's national and Rose Bowl champion Trojans, but in the end decided the Dons represented the best place to start his college career. The Don campus is nothing new to Moore. He used to sit in the stands at Bill Cook Gym when he was a child watching his father, Lonnie Moore, pump in his patented long jumpers when Bob Boyd was coaching the Dons. It's strictly football for the son however. That's good news for coach Don Gorrie, but bad news for cage coach Bill Oates.

Martin Firing No Surprise To Billy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Martin's dismissal as manager of the Detroit Tigers came as little surprise to one man—Billy Martin.

If coming events cast their shadows before them, and they certainly do, then Martin was certainly a reasonably good idea of the kind of ground he was standing on five days ago when Jim Campbell and he had a long private meeting.

The Detroit general manager told Martin he was unhappy about a number of things, or as he put it, "an accumulation of things." Campbell seemed to have gotten the message across.

But Billy Martin is a blithe spirit. He finds it impossible to bottle up his emotions for long. If he feels like saying something, he says it, even though he knows it may cost him.

So he ordered two of his pitchers, Joe Coleman and Fred Scherman, to put "grease" on the ball during last Thursday night's game with Cleveland.

Ostenly with Martin was doing this to bring attention to similar infractions by Gaylord Perry of the Indians, but what he really was doing was simply being Billy Martin. He was "protesting" for his ball club in a way, but thumbing his nose at authority in another way.

This in itself wasn't enough to get him fired but there was also that "accumulation" of other things.

On Saturday, Joe Cronin, the American League President who many frequently accuse of doing nothing, did something.

He suspended Martin three days for instructing his pitchers to break the rules so flagrantly.

Martin said he'd go to court if Cronin fined him. That was like Leo Durocher saying he'd go to court this spring if Chub Feeney, the National League President, attempted to collect a fine he had meted out.

P.S. Durocher paid. So did Martin—in an altogether different way.

With all this going on the past few days, the Tigers quietly were dropping back in the American League race, losing three games in a row and six of seven.

Now Jim Campbell began doing some thinking of his own. He remembered the conversation he had with Martin a few days ago. He kept thinking about that. He kept thinking about Martin's rash action with his two pitchers. The Tigers losing ballgames didn't help.

Campbell was aware Martin did a generally good job managing the Tigers.

But he also was aware Martin does things his own way, always has, always will, and no amount of talking ever is going to change him.

So Campbell called his boss, John Fetzer, and told him what he had in mind. Fetzer told Campbell he was the general manager and had the green light to do what he wanted.

On Sunday morning, Campbell picked up the phone and called Martin at his home.

"Billy, it's been a rough couple of days around here," he said. "I've decided to release you from your contract. I'll be glad to read you the release we've prepared."

Campbell read the two-paragraph release. One of the phrases said something about "for the good of the organization."

Martin listened and didn't say much.

"I appreciate the opportunity I had to work with you," he said, solemnly.

The rumor kicking around now is that Billy Martin, long a favorite here starting with when he played second base for the Yankees, might come back next year as manager of the Mets.

Yogi Berra would get another job in the organization and Mickey Mantle would be one of Martin's coaches, according to the rumor.

M. Donald Grant, the Mets' board chairman, laughs and laughs and laughs about that rumor. Maybe he's laughing a little too hard.

"Ridiculous," Grant said when originally asked about the rumor last week before Martin was fired. "Nothing could be further from the truth. Where do such stories originate?"

Who knows?

But then was then and now is now. Martin is at liberty now as they say in the theatre.

If the Mets to decide to make a change, Martin obviously will be given consideration. He should be because he's a good brainy manager. The only thing is that Billy Martin always will be Billy Martin, and if the Mets decide they want him, that's the way they'll have to take him.

You either accept Billy Martin on his terms or not at all. On Sunday, the Tigers decided to pass up the opportunity. They decided to go along with Jim Bouton's favorite manager, Joe Schultz.

They play the San Francisco 49ers in the Los Angeles Coliseum Friday night.

The Rams have spent most of the pre-season evaluating personnel but Coach Chuck Knox, after looking at movies of the last game, indicated the time is at hand to begin solidifying the starting units.

"We played a lot of people this pre-season," he said, "but from now on we're going to have to begin to settle on a lineup and stick with it."

Knox said he was pleased with his team's running game—it gained 282 yards on the ground against San Diego—but acknowledged the need to improve in the defensive secondary.

All will wind up his preliminary training here for the fight and fly to the West Coast this week.

DETROIT (UPI) — Art Fowler and Charlie Silvera, both personally selected by Billy Martin, joined their recently deposed manager on unemployment, Monday when they also were fired by the Detroit Tigers.

Martin was canned by General Manager Jim Campbell Sunday for what he said was, in essence, the good of the Detroit organization. The deposed manager has yet to break his public silence. Telephone calls to Martin's Detroit home only brought a constant busy signal and it was assumed that the phone had been taken off the hook.

Campbell said he conferred with acting manager Joe Schultz and club vice president Rick Ferrell before making the decision on the two coaches.

"Of course it's coaches," Campbell said. "A manager always gets to name his own coaches."

Cot Deal, 50, long-time major and minor league coach, was named to take over for Fowler as pitching coach for the Tigers for the balance of the season while Silvera was not replaced.

Deal started the season as pitching coach at Detroit's top farm club in Toledo of the International League but became manager of the Mud Hens when Johnny Lipon resigned July 23.

The expected unpopularity of the fiery Martin's firing began to show on Labor Day.

"Surprisingly, we haven't had as many phone calls or wires as we expected," Campbell said about the public's reaction.

"It wasn't like the reaction we got to Denny (McLain)—any of the times, although I suppose the reaction we got when we traded him was the biggest," Campbell said.

When Martin was fired from his other major league managerial job, after winning a divisional title with Minnesota in 1969, the public outswell grew into an organized campaign. It included "Bring Back Billy" bumper stickers and a record, "The Ballad of Billy Martin."

"This hasn't been as heavy as I thought it might be," Campbell said. "But then, this is a holiday, so... I don't pay that much attention to it anyway."

"Bad—that's the only kind of call you get," Campbell said. "But you know something, A wise man once said 'This too, shall pass.'"

Rams 'Labor', Decide Cut

LONG BEACH — The Los Angeles Rams were at their regular season training camp at Blair Field with a Labor Day practice Monday and seven players to be cut to get down to the NFL limit of 14.

The Rams wound up their seven weeks at their pre-season camp at Fullerton, with a 30-17 win over the San Diego Chargers Friday night.

They play the San Francisco 49ers in the Los Angeles Coliseum Friday night.

The Rams have spent most of the pre-season evaluating personnel but Coach Chuck Knox, after looking at movies of the last game, indicated the time is at hand to begin solidifying the starting units.

"We played a lot of people this pre-season," he said, "but from now on we're going to have to begin to settle on a lineup and stick with it."

Knox said he was pleased with his team's running game—it gained 282 yards on the ground against San Diego—but acknowledged the need to improve in the defensive secondary.

All will wind up his preliminary training here for the fight and fly to the West Coast this week.

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Muhammad Ali was shocked to hear that he had been made a 12-5 favorite Monday for his return bout with Ken Norton in Los Angeles on Sept. 10.

"It must be a Norton plot to give me false confidence," said Ali when he was informed of the odds on the fight. "I lost the last fight. I should not be favored this time. I should be the underdog."

Ali will wind up his preliminary training here for the fight and fly to the West Coast this week.

Entries received for the annual City of Santa Ana Golf Championships are giving every indication a stellar field will greet the sponsoring River View Men's Club, according to Ken James, manager of the tricky and sporty par-70 golf course located between Honer Plaza and The City shopping districts, Santa Ana.

River View Golf Course, expanded to a full 18-holes and a member of the Southern California Golf Assn., will be the site of this tournament being held under the approval of the city. The huge perpetual award going to the winner will be the Mayor's Trophy, donated by the city.

First sending in an entry was Larry Bouchey, well known low handicap golfer out of Green River Golf Course. Bouchey has long been a threat in all golf tournaments. He won the Santa Ana City Championship several years ago, prior to it being changed to the Orange County Invitational under direction of Stan Riley at Willowick.

Blanks have been distributed to all golf courses in the area along with posters. The 36-hole

Dallenbach Gets $109,518 For Ontario Win

ONTARIO (UPI) — Winning his third U.S. Auto Club big money race in three weeks, Walley Dallenbach of East Brunswick, N.J., earned a total of $109,518 in prize money for his victory Sunday in the prestigious California 500.

Dallenbach, who posted a five-second victory over two-time Indianapolis 500 champion Mario Andretti over the 2.5-mile oval track at Ontario Motor Speedway, included among his winnings, a $40,000 purse, $12,250 in lap prize money, two cars and a motorcycle.

Andretti collected $46,380; Mike Mosley, third, $27,105; 1972 champion Roger McCluskey, fourth, $19,318; and John Martin, fifth, $10,443.

The only change, announced with the official money winnings Monday, was another lap being credited to 14th place finisher George Snider, who officially completed 145 laps.

The California 500 purse is the nation's second-largest in auto racing to the Indy 500.

Senior Tennis Sale Brisk

Box seats for the Pacific Southwest Seniors' Tennis Championships at the Newport Beach Tennis Club Sept. 10-16 have been sold out, the club announced today.

The sellout came only one week after the announcement of the appearance of several of the nation's top named senior players.

Andretti Wins At Du Quoin, Unser Runs Dry

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UPI) — Mario Andretti won the 100-mile U.S. Auto Club national championship dirt track race at the Du Quoin State Fair Monday, taking over first place with one lap to go from Al Unser, who ran out of gas.

Andretti, of Nazareth, Pa., started in the No. 2 position and pushed his Vel's Parnelli Jones Special into the lead on the first lap. He held down first until the 51st circuit of the one-mile dirt oval, when Unser, who started in the pole position, surged into the lead.

Unser was burning up the track, establishing a one-lap track record of 107.27 miles per hour at one point while leading the race until the 99th lap.

But Unser's fuel ran out with only one lap left, and Andretti surged past him to take the checkered flag first and claim $6,462 of the total purse of $26,932.

Unser coasted to a fifth place finish.

Yarborough Collects Narrow '500' Win

By JERRY MITCHELL
DARLINGTON, S. C. (UPI) — Cale Yarborough ended a personal three-year superspeedway drought Monday, taking a narrow victory over David Pearson in the Southern 500 stock car race.

Yarborough, who lives just down the road from the Darlington Raceway, led 278 of the 367 laps and his Chevrolet proved the faster car as he continually out-duelled Pearson's Mercury.

The final four laps were run under the caution flag after Henley Gray and James Hylton tangled in the second turn.

The victory was Yarborough's first on a major NASCAR track since he returned from a short stint on the USAC circuit.

Yarborough took home $21,165 and the $10,605 for Pearson's second place victory put him over the million dollar mark in career winnings.

Buddy Baker was third in a Dodge, one lap behind the leaders, followed by Richard Petty in a Dodge in fourth and Benny Parsons was fifth in a Chevrolet.

Yarborough and Pearson were knotted with Bobby Allison throughout most of the race but Allison had to spend more than six minutes in the pits due to a brake problem in the latter stages of the race and was knocked out of his bid for a third consecutive Southern 500 victory.

Pearson was leading on the 303rd lap when his Mercury touched the wall on the second turn, allowing Yarborough to once again take the lead.

Pearson and Yarborough were within a couple car lengths at several points in the race but Yarborough managed to expand his lead in the straightaways.

Petty, the only other million-dollar winner on the NASCAR circuit, ran as fast as the leaders but had handling problems and finished six laps behind Yarborough.

Yarborough toured the mile and three-eighths oval at a record speed of 134.033 miles per hour, almost three miles faster than the previous record speed of 131.398.

A total of 39 laps were run under the caution flag which was dropped six times.

Both Yarborough and Pearson got excellent assistance from their pit crews. They had pit stops under 10 seconds for tire changes and gasoline.

With 19 laps remaining in the race, Pearson pitted for gas in nine seconds. But Yarborough pitted three laps later in 8.1 seconds and managed to hold onto the lead.

There were a total of 26 lead changes among five drivers.

Charlie Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., had his Chevrolet out front for a total of nine laps but had to leave the race on lap 154 after experiencing rear end trouble.

Baker led one lap early in the race while the leaders pitted.

Yarborough said he thought maybe his luck has changed.

"I feel real good," said the Timmonsville native. "We've just had a lot of tough luck. We've run up front all year."

"I think maybe our luck has changed."

The race was extremely close during the first half with only 1.6 seconds separating the first six cars.

Holly Sugar Corp. has promoted C. DOYLE EDWARDS, Fountain Valley, as plant controller for its Santa Ana factory. He replaces FRED PIKE who retired July 31 after more than 45 years' service with Holly at Santa Ana. Earlier he joined Holly in 1966 and was senior clerk at the plant. He had two years as office manager of a trucking business, worked for a public accountant in Tracy, in cost accounting for St. Regis Paper's Tracy plant and in production cost accounting with the California Wine Association.

ROSS E. ROEDER, 35, has been appointed a vice president of Denny's, Inc., and will continue as president of the Winchell's Donut House Division of Denny's, Inc., a position he has held since July of 1972. There are currently 901 Denny's restaurant and Winchell's donut houses in 33 states, Mexico and Canada.

Schlage Lock Co., headquartered in San Francisco, has announced the promotion of JOHANNES H. BITTER to production superintendent, custom hardware division, at Schlage's plant in Irvine. Bitter had been senior project engineer at the Bay Area plant. He and his family will live in Tustin.

General Automation Realigns Territories

General Automation Inc., Anaheim, faced with more than 100 per cent growth in bookings and shipments during the past fiscal year, has announced realignment of sales territories and addition of personnel and offices worldwide.

Sales and service vice president Jay L. Kear said: "Richard P. Carroll, formerly western region sales manager, has been named the company's first sales manager."

The U.S. has been split into four regional areas, instead of three, with a new Southern region to be headquartered in Atlanta, while the Eastern region headquarters remains in Stamford, Conn., the Central in Chicago and the Western in Anaheim; —Walter Mitchell is new Eastern regional manager, Edgar Pulsifer continues as manager in Chicago and new managers are yet to be named in the other two regions;

—Jack L. Davis, previously responsible for international distributors, has been promoted to international sales manager, including support for G.A. subsidiaries overseas.

Kear said sales staff has been increased 150 per cent, field support staff 131 per cent and domestic sales offices by nearly 100 per cent.

General Automation, recently reporting 9-month sales of $19.8 million, is a manufacturer of minicomputers and computer-based automation systems.

Interest Trends Differ As Peak Mulled - Bank

Conflicting movements of rates were seen as debate over the timing of the interest rate peaking goes on, Crocker Bank says in its Weekly Money Market Review.

Banks still found it expensive to raise money although CD quotes showed a small drop from their highs. At the same time, borrowings at the Fed reached a new high, along with a new high in the weekly average Fed funds' rate.

Commercial paper issuers maintained their short rates, but were willing to pay higher rates for 30 to 59 day maturities. Encouraged by the lack of supply, the bond markets did not hesitate to show lower yields.

In the municipal area, new issues were quickly sold out and the prices were marked up.

Substantial retail investment is being seen as prices move up, indicating investors' conclusion that the short rate will retreat before they can push longer rates higher.

Merger Report

Datapax Computer Systems Corp.'s unit, ADM Tronics, announced it finalized an agreement with General Gummel Products to set up a jointly owned company named Aldimin-General Corp. Terms call for ADM and General Gummel to be equal owners of the newly formed company. It will market ADM Tronics' polqua products and explore further applications of the products to the paper converting industry.

Inflation is the nation's most serious negative factor. It is the number one issue in the public's mind. And, despite political promises, there's no near-term end in sight or beyond the horizon.

Honest economists agree there will be no end to price inflation until consumers slash their demands for goods and services. In other words, most of the price inflation today is brought on by consumer demands.

Consumers are thinking of reducing their buying of foodstuffs for three reasons: (1) For better health it would be best to go on a diet; (2) Food waste must be avoided; and (3) Food prices are now in the clouds, so why reach for them?

Consumers are also thinking of not, repeat not, doing any buying of anything new that isn't absolutely necessary; to make repairs as best possible and thus avoid the skyrocketed costs of new items.

Consumers are openly mentioning they are on a program of eliminating spending of luxury items of any kind, or, at least, cut that type of spending in half.

Over the long haul, says a bank "think tank" consultant, it's the consumer who ultimately dictates the direction of retail price levels.

If the consumer is on a buying spree, grabbing everything from houses to hoses, vacuums to vacations, then it figures for the business markets to be basically upbeat.

But, if the consumer is to go through one of this stingy, salt-it-away phases, business sales will reflect this, and we might ride the road to recession.

Several stock market advisory services have been and are saying the market "price is right" and this is the time to buy. It's based on estimated earnings per share. But earnings may not run as high as is being predicted.

Commercial bank lending is running at an unprecedented pace. The Federal Reserve is acting to slow that pace. FRB Chairman Arthur Burns made that definite in a statement to a congressional committee.

The official hint is that there will be additional FRB efforts toward monetary restraint; more rigid regulations covering bank credit expansion. That's not favorable for corporate profits.

Currency dealers attribute the recent decline in the price of gold to the boosts in loan interest rates. The higher loan rates make it too expensive to borrow money to buy gold contracts.

Interest rates have a double effect on stock market prices. First, with commercial pap-

Singapore Thrives On 'Asian $'

By KOH HAN THUAN

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The international currency field may be a shambles in most world centers—but not Singapore. It's thriving on a service performed by a growing number of banks which use the "Asian dollar," sometimes called "ACU," or Asian Currency Unit.

Singapore is a leader in the field, boasting Asian dollar deposits in 1972 equivalent of more than $3 billion—a figure higher than the island state's entire gross national product in the same year.

Lucrative Asian dollar dealings have attracted to Singapore no less than 44 foreign bank branches, making it a chief financial center of Asia. Toshio Nakamura, president of Japan's Mitsubishi Bank, said in opening a branch here recently that Singapore already was far ahead of Hong Kong and Japan as an Asian money market.

A forest of skyscrapers, many built by banks, rising on downtown Shenton Way—Singapore's Wall Street—is testimony to the importance and strength of the money business here.

That strength remains intact despite attacks on the U.S. dollar here and elsewhere even though 90 per cent of ACU deposits remain in the U.S. currency, bankers report. One American banker noted recently a slowing of ACU deposits traceable to dollar troubles but said the trend was still upward with "no panic withdrawals."

er yielding over 10 per cent and U.S. Treasury issues yielding almost as much, these are attractive short-term investment vehicles provided to managers of big money.

Much money that would otherwise go into corporate common shares is thus channeled into short-term debt instruments. There are excellent high yield buys in government agency short-term issues.

Second, economists generally agree that a slowdown in the general business activity is essential to halt the booming inflation. It would cool the overheated economy and help to avoid a drastic plunge at a later date. The slowdown will reduce corporate per-share profits.

Says a money lender: During the 1968-72 period, stock market prices learned to live in a new environment—an environment of high interest rates.

A "floating" exchange rate for a government's paper money is when there is no fixed value for the currency. Under the old system, world key currencies were valued in relation to the U.S. dollar. But today even the dollar is on a floating exchange rate.

Japan-Europe Alliance Seen In Trade Talks

TOKYO (UPI) — A high Japanese official indicated Monday that Japan will line up with France and other European nations in forthcoming negotiations against American proposals for liberalizing international trade in farm products.

He also reflected continued Japanese bitterness against the U.S. embargo on soybean and other grain shipments last June which he said should be decided by international rules, and not by one country alone.

Naohiro Amaya, director general of the economic affairs department of Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry, said that Japan's family farmers will be defended from head-on competition with American large-scale agribusiness in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) talks which begin here in nine days.

Japan's small farmers, operating from farms averaging less than two acres, are the chief prop of the ruling Liberal-Democratic Party. In deference to them, Japan bars American oranges from her markets, imposes a prohibitive tariff on canned pineapple, subsidizes rice growers, and keeps imports of beef and pork at a trickle.

Cabinet ministers of the 82 GATT countries will open a two-year round of negotiations for the overhaul of the rules of international trade.

Amaya accused the United States of pressuring Japan into reliance on America as a soybean supplier and then cutting her off.

"But even if it were guaranteed that there would be no export restrictions, Japan is not going to guarantee full liberalization of agricultural products," Amaya said.

"The American government insists the agricultural policy of the European Economic Community is too restricted," Amaya said. "They are also preaching that Japan should liberalize agricultural trade. We partly accepted that argument and relied heavily on imports of American soybeans."

Dollar Dips Slightly But Gold Levels

LONDON (UPI) — Money transactions were desultory on European exchanges Monday as the American dollar lost small margins against most currencies and gold was unchanged after a rise in the morning.

"It's been a dull day," said a London dealer. A Frankfurt banker called it "a very quiet afternoon due to the Labor Day holiday in the United States."

Gold sank back from morning increases. It closed the day unchanged in Zurich, Frankfurt and Paris, and in London by late afternoon had lost half the $2 an ounce which it marked up in the morning.

The late London gold price was $104.50 an ounce. The closing figure in Zurich was $104.50, in Frankfurt $104.44 and in Paris $108.48.

The dollar's movements were similarly small. The dollar was fixed in Frankfurt at 2.4570 marks, barely down from 2.46 marks at the opening. In London a pound sterling cost $2.4592 in late trading, marginally more than the opening rate of $2.4572.

The official commercial dollar in Paris closed at 4.31

Sandman Motels To Expand Units

The $1.4 million, 101-unit Sandman Motel opened recently at Beach and Garden Grove boulevards in Garden Grove is fifth in a chain of motels being developed by Sandman Motels, Inc., Irvine.

Sandman president Ray Smith reports that the two-story complex managed by Joe Seeley is owned and operated by Farrar, Herrick and Associates Development Corp., San Bernardino.

The Sandman chain now has two units in Garden Grove and one each in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Santa Fe Springs, with a total of 321 rooms. Smith said the firm expects to open an additional 10 motels, with more than 800 rooms, in the five western states on a turn-key basis for investors or owner-operators. Sandman Motels, Inc. is a subsidiary of Los Angeles-based Pacific Lighting Corp.

Economic Ruin Sparking End Of Controls

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

NAM Chief Economist
Some time in the near future, possibly before the end of 1973, the episode of wage and price controls which began in August, 1971, will be ended completely.

Controls will not be terminated because there has been an ideological conversion of the public and the politicians to a free market philosophy. If the philosophical views of the public were the determining factor, controls might very well last forever. Politicians will still feel under pressure from the public to do something about rising prices.

Special Report

Also, controls will not be terminated because they have accomplished their objective, and inflationary pressures are well under control. It is quite likely that inflationary forces will be stronger when controls end than they were when controls started two years ago.

Controls will be ended, quite simply, because the economic damage they are doing has become so obvious and so severe that they can no longer be tolerated.

To forecast that wage and price controls will end in this way is not to make any startling prediction. In the various episodes of price controls that have occurred both in the U.S. and in other industrial countries since World War II, controls have usually ended because they have failed rather than because they have succeeded.

The outstanding exception to this general rule was the termination of wage and price controls in 1953 after the Korean War. At that time, the economy was sliding into a post-war recession. By the time recovery had occurred, and the economy was moving into boom conditions in 1955, the controls were gone and could not do the damage that might have been expected under those circumstances.

For a time this writer had high hopes that the controls first imposed in 1971 might be terminated in the same relatively painless manner. But it was not to be. Controls were still in effect when the boom occurred in 1973, and that is the reason that our experience with them has been so traumatic this year.

The principle we are stating—that controls end because of their failure rather than because of their success—was illustrated in miniature by the freeze instituted on June 13. It was terminated in mid-July, not in the sectors where inflationary pressures had been successfully curbed, but in the sector—food—where inflationary pressures were most severe.

One reason that this theme is worth emphasizing is that many illusions still seem to be prevalent on the subject. We still hear suggestions that some plan for phasing-out controls be set up in advance—controls to be terminated in any given sector as soon as the rate of price climb in that sector subsides to some pre-set target figure. These plans seem to us to be made in a dream world. Controls do the worst damage in the sectors where inflationary pressures are most severe, and it is in those sectors that they will have to be terminated first. In sectors where inflationary pressures are not strong, controls do less damage and perhaps can be tolerated longer.

At present, one school of thought maintains that controls are inherently workable and useful, and the main reason for the mess we are in was the administrative mistake made in shifting to Phase III. If only we had stuck with the successful

Phase II, according to that view, all would be well at this moment. This proposition is hard to accept in light of the fact that inflationary pressures have been most severe in the food sector, where Phase III rules were stricter than the Phase II rules.

Assuming that controls do end in the next few months, what shall we say as to the balance between their good effects and their bad effects? Will the price level be lower than it would have been if we had never embarked on this two-year adventure of wage and price controls? Is the economy better off, or worse off, than it would have been if all this travail had never happened?

These are questions on which we can have opinions but not mathematically-provable conclusions—you can't go back and rerun history with a different set of assumptions. It is, however, becoming increasingly difficult to believe that the net effects of this period of controls will be beneficial in the long run. And the longer the effort is continued to preserve controls, the worse the final net adverse effect will become.

Probably the major long-term benefit to be expected from this interval of controls is the education that comes from experience—controls simply do not work.

Foreign Industries' Sales Gain Tops U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The major foreign industrial firms did much better than their American counterparts in ringing up sales gains last year, Fortune magazine says. In its directory, published last Tuesday, Fortune said combined sales of the top 300 foreign firms rose 18.8 per cent from the year before. The sales increase by the top 500 U.S. industrial concerns was 10.8 per cent. So far as profits were concerned, however, the foreign firms came second, an increase of 14.5 per cent against an 18.9 per cent rise by the top 500 in the United States.

By group, largest sales gains went to manufacturers of electrical equipment—21.1 per cent—followed by auto makers, 20.8 per cent, and iron and steel producers, 20.2 per cent.

Still, 20 of the top 300 finished the year with losses, led by Montedison, Italian chemical giant, whose loss totaled $779.5 million—greater than the combined profits of all the others on the list.

FREE PRESS GAGGED!

WHAT A FRIGHTENING THOUGHT . . . And yet, it could be a reality if certain power groups continue to make progress. The 1970's have seen reporters jailed, under threat of being jailed, or subject to stiff fines because of their loyalty to news sources or for vigorous pursuit of their readers' rights under the First Amendment.

It is a growing problem, centered initially around the Kennedy assassination and Oswald murder, and the subsequent Warren Commission report. These events led to "corrective action" allowing the court to decide what information may be released and reported to a concerned public.

Guardians of a Free Press, while staunchly supporting an unwavering need for responsible reporting, continue to oppose these so-called "gag rules" and will continue to do so as long as a concerned public also continues to believe in their basic rights and freedoms including most specifically "THE RIGHT TO KNOW."
